Chapter 151

Chapter 151 This Is Papa Wilson

Caroline was stunned. "You did this for the children?"

"Yes." Scott did not deny it. "Since you won't let me share the stress of your life, I can only help out more with the children."

Caroline's heart felt warm and content. While her feelings for Scott weren't strong, he seemed like the best choice to be her husband and the father of her children

Caroline said sincerely, "Thank you "

Scott chuckled "You know I don't like you saying thank you' because it'll make us seem like strangers. In addition, I'm doing this voluntarily."

Scott took a sip of juice. "When is Axel coming?" novelbin

"Tomorrow. Caroline said, "I'll bring him over."

Scott paused for a moment before he said, "I'll go. It would be best for you not to go to Villa Rosa now.

Caroline shook her head. "I want to keep my promise to the child. Moreover, the child doesn't know you, so I'm worried he might resist you

Scott relented. "I shall come over earlier tomorrow, then."

“Sure.”

Caroline wore her shades and headed out to pick up Axel on Saturday morning.

As soon as Caroline drove out of the residential area, Julian followed her while maintaining a distance. He trailed her to Villa Rose. When he saw Axel getting into her car, he took a photo using his phone and sent it to Evan.

Caroline assisted Axel in fastening his seatbelt before driving back to Bayview Villa. Trying to calm Axel, she asked, “Does your father know you’re out, Axel?”

“The nanny and the servant won’t tell,” Axel replied.

He had always been good at paying for people’s silence.

Caroline kept quiet for a short while before she said, “Axel, are you not fond of meeting strangers?”

Axel clutched his shirt tightly. “I can do it if the stranger is Mommy’s friend”

He managed to push down his fear and worry for his mother’s sake, aware of his illness.

Caroline’s heart ached deeply as she caught sight of Axel lowering his head in the rearview mirror.

“Axel, feel free to share your likes and dislikes with me. You have the right to decide for yourself. If you’re uncomfortable around a stranger right now, I’ll be here to keep you company as you gradually get used to new things Axel’s dim gaze slowly brightened. He cautiously but happily asked, “Really?”

“Yes, my dear. You don’t need to worry about anything when I’m here.”

Axel smiled. “That’s good...”

Caroline felt a pang of sadness. She struggled to grasp the full extent of Daniella's emotional toll on Axel.

All Caroline could do was expose Daniella to public scrutiny and do her best to shield and support Axel.

When Caroline returned to Bayview Villa, Scott was already playing with the two children.

Upon hearing the noise, the children rushed over and brought Axel into the house.

They introduced Axel to Scott.

Liora said, "Axel, this is Papa Wilson. You can also call him Papa Wilson"

Axel seemed nervous, trying to speak, but no words came out.

With a smile, Scott said casually, "That's alright, Axel. You don't know me yet, so you can use that name once you get to know me. If you prefer, you can call me Uncle Scott."

Axel visibly relaxed upon hearing that.

Tyler guided him to a seat, and the four of them started playing with Legos.

Scott glanced at Caroline and signaled her to trust him with Axel for a while.

Caroline went upstairs and entered the study to access her laptop's encrypted files.

Inside were DNA test reports for her, Daniella, and Neil, along with evidence of Danielle's false identity discovered by Neil. The most crucial item was the video call where Daniella and Nicholas

colluded

Caroline had Nicholas to thank for storing this evidence due to his unique hobby. She planned to gauge Daniella's reaction in two and a half months. novelbin

However, one doubt lingered in Caroline's mind. There seemed to be someone who had concealed the evidence of Daniella's murder years ago, as well as facilitated the child swap Caroline deduced that Danielle aimed to keep the Xanders and Jordans in the dark about this. The question remained: who was the person assisting her?

Lost in thought. Caroline stood up, walked to the window, and sipped her drink.

Unbeknownst to her, Julian had already snapped her photo from the opposite building the moment she revealed her face.

Evan was on a business trip in Oceania City. He awoke in his hotel room and received photos from Julian.

One showed Caroline by a window, and the other displayed her picking up Axel.

Upon seeing her familiar, confident face, Evan's chest tightened. It was Caroline—he had been right. She was alive!

He had been searching all over the world for her for five years, but she never appeared.

She hadn't even tried to contact him. Now that she was back, she seemed to be hiding from him.

Did she truly want to avoid him that badly?

Evan clenched his fist. He was determined to uncover how Caroline planned to stay hidden.

Shortly after, he viewed a picture of Caroline leaving with Axel. He narrowed his eyes, pondering Caroline's intentions with Axel.

Was she venting her anger for Daniella on him?

Evan sat upright, immediately called Julian, and instructed him to track Caroline's every move until his return.

In the afternoon, Daniella stared at two photos on the table with a malicious expression. The boy in the photo resembled Evan, and the girl looked like Caroline!

'Caroline is still alive? And she is living in Angelbay with her two children now? How could she have the audacity to come back, especially with the label of a murderer?

'Caroline's two children share a class with Axel. Has Axel met them before?

If Axel recognizes the children or if Caroline discovers Axel is her child, she won't leave here.

anymore.

Daniella's fists clenched as she had those thoughts. She should have found a way to eliminate Caroline and her unborn children from the beginning!

"No! I can't give up now!" she muttered.

Danielle grabbed her phone angrily and called the police.

"Hello! I want to report a murderer!"

At Bayview Villa, Caroline was getting ready to take her children to a restaurant for a meal she had reserved.

Someone knocked on the door as she was about to head downstairs after changing.

opened the door and her expression turned serious at the sight of the police.

The police officers showed their badges. “Hello, is Ms. Carolyn Shenton at home?”

Lily quickly looked at Scott.

Before Scott could react, Caroline’s voice came from the staircase landing. “Who is it, Ms. Smith?”

The police officers entered without waiting for Lily’s response. They pulled a photo from their database to compare it with Caroline’s.

Seeing that Caroline closely resembled the murder suspect, the lead officer spoke sternly. “Please come with us, Ms. Shenton.”

Chapter 153 Taken by the Police

Liora quickly moved and blocked the stairs before Caroline could reply. Her chubby cheeks were puffed in anger as she said, “Why are you taking my mommy, Mr. Police Officer?”

Tyler and Axel joined them, both stern-faced

Tyler’s voice was icy. “You can’t take her without a reason

Axel’s tone matched “Tell us the reason.”

The three kids eyed the officers with hostility. They defended their mother, afraid she would be taken away.

Scott and Caroline, though, were unusually composed. They exchanged a glance and worked together.

Scott soothed the children while Caroline descended the stairs calmly. She approached the officers and asked, “I can go with you, but could you please explain what I’ve done wrong?”

The lead officer replied, "Someone reported you as a murderer who faked death to escape prison"

"Mommy's not a murderer! This is crazy!" Liora yelled, breaking free from Scott's grip and clutching Caroline's thigh.

"Child, please let the police do their job. We'll investigate and release your mother if all's well," the lead officer assured.

Caroline comforted Liora with a pat, then addressed the officers, "I'll come with you. But for the kids sake, let's not mention this, to protect them."

The lead officer nodded, saying, "Let's go."

As Caroline left with the officers, Liora looked at Scott with tears. "I don't like you anymore, Papa Wilson! Why didn't you defend Mommy when the police got it wrong?"

Scott leaned over, caressed Liora's head, and explained gently, "It's not that I don't want to help your mother, but I trust her. Why would she be scared of the police if she didn't do anything wrong? We should encourage her to prove her innocence now so the police won't bother us frequently in the future, right?"

Liora was convinced. She sobbed and asked, "Really?"

Scott nodded. "When have I lied to you before, Lia?"

Tyler pulled Axel aside. "We must figure out a way to save Mommy."

Axel looked at him. "Til do it, Ty."

Tyler looked at him in puzzlement. "Do you have a way?"

Axel pursed his lips. "Investigate, then come up with a solution."

Tyler nodded and led Axel upstairs.

Julian hastily texted Evan after Caroline was taken. [Mr. Jordan! The police have taken Ms. Caroline)

Evan was getting ready to discuss a mining industry partnership with Otis Seaward from Oceania

City.

Upon receiving Julian's text, Evan's expression turned serious. He stood up quickly, glancing at Otis "Mr. Seaward, I must leave for an urgent matter."

He left the cafe before Otis could reply.

Seeing Evan's departure, Reuben noticed Otis looking displeased. He caught up with Evan and said, "Mr. Jordan, this..."

Evan kept walking without pausing "Arrange the earliest flight to Angelbay. The police have taken Caroline."

Reuben was shocked, thinking, "Would Mr. Jordan really abandon a billion-dollar collaboration for Ms. Shenton? Wait, the police?"

Reuben realized that if Caroline's true identity was revealed, she would have to return to prison.

Caroline sat in the police station and looked at the detectives, Ross Webb and Wendy Walsh, seated opposite her calmly.

Ross and Wendy had already interrogated her for an hour, yet they refused to let her leave despite not having substantial evidence

Caroline missed her children, so she said, "Is there anything else?"

"I'm sorry, but we can't let you go yet." Wendy said sternly.

Caroline looked toward them nonchalantly. "You've interrogated me thoroughly. What else is there to suspect?"

Five years ago, Neil created a false identity for her. He had asked a friend abroad to carefully organize Carolyn Shenton's background from childhood to now.

This is why Caroline could remain so composed being here.

Ross spent a long time carefully reviewing the information and records. After confirming that everything was flawless, he talked to Wendy about it.

"There is no issue except for the similar appearance. Release her then," he suggested

"Have you forgotten something?" Wendy asked

Ross was puzzled. "What is it?"

"Blood test comparison!" Wendy looked at Caroline.

Caroline's body suddenly stiffened upon hearing that. She could create a fake identity but couldn't fake her own blood!

Wendy stood up and said, "Follow me to get a blood test, and I will release you if there's no issue with the blood test comparison.

Caroline stood up anxiously and pursed her lips "Sure..."

At Bayview Villa, Tyler and Axel focused on the surveillance footage from the police station.

Tyler's brow furrowed, and he remarked, "Oh no! Mommy seems anxious."

Axel looked at him, puzzled. "Really?"

Tyler affirmed, "Mommy doesn't purse her lips often. Liora and I have noticed she does it when she's nervous.

Axel felt a bit disappointed. He wasn't aware of these cues as he didn't live with Caroline. Still, he made a mental note that she pursed her lips when anxious.

Tyler inquired, "Axel, do you know how to alter someone's blood type?"

"I can't change blood types," Axel replied in a low voice. "But I can hack into the hospital's system to alter blood test results. The challenge is not knowing which hospital they'll choose."

you "I've got that covered!" Tyler positioned himself at Caroline's laptop, smiling at Axel. "While handle the system, I'll trace her location. How long will it take to crack the hospital's network?"

With confidence, Axel assured, "Five minutes." novelbin

"Perfect!" Tyler started to crack Caroline's laptop password.

I'm sorry for cracking the password without your permission, Mommy,' he thought.

Fifteen minutes later.

Wendy accompanied Caroline to Angelbay Hospital.

Upon seeing the hospital where her mother had been treated, Caroline's heart filled with sorrow. She took a deep breath and followed Wendy inside for a blood test.

Wendy closely observed Caroline's every move and expression but didn't notice anything unusual.

After the blood test, Caroline sat in the waiting area, feeling like she was under a scrutinizing gaze as if she were a criminal

For half an hour, they sat in silence. Finally, Wendy turned away to collect the report.

Caroline's palms grew sweaty as she anxiously studied the printed report, her mind racing to find a solution.

Before Caroline could come up with an idea, Wendy approached with a frown.

"You haven't gotten a full blood transfusion, right?" Wendy asked suspiciously.

+15 BONUS

Stunned, Caroline thought, 'Shouldn't the report show the same blood type? Did Scott manage to contact the doctor beforehand?'

Caroline couldn't think of anyone who could act so swiftly except Scott. She was about to respond when suddenly, they both heard hurried footsteps.

Shortly after, Wendy exclaimed, "Chief Dunn?"

Caroline turned to follow Wendy's gaze. A slightly chubby middle-aged man stood there, visibly anxious. However, the handsome man with him caught Caroline's full attention.

Caroline's eyes widened, and she clenched her fists as their eyes locked.

"Why is Evan here? Wasn't he on a business trip? she thought.

Fabian Dunn frowned at Wendy and asked, "What's going on, Walsh? Why hasn't she been released yet?

Wendy explained. "Chief, this person looks exactly like the murderer who died while giving birth..

"What do you mean 'exactly?'" Fabian berated, annoyed. "He's Mr. Jordan's girlfriend! This is nonsense!"

Wendy gazed at Evan in confusion, then turned to Fabian. "Chief Dunn, the murderer named Caroline Shenton was once associated with Mr. Jordan too. Aren't you concerned that he's defending a murderer?" she spoke firmly.

"Show me proof!" Fabian's anger flared.

Reluctantly, Wendy handed over the blood test report. "Her blood type doesn't match."

"Then release her," Fabian commanded, growing impatient.

Wendy turned to Caroline. "You're free to go."

Caroline was taken aback but concealed her surprise. "Alright."

As she walked past Evan, he grabbed her arm and pulled her close. Caroline found herself leaning against his chest, hearing his steady heartbeat. His voice was cold as he spoke. "Thank you for being here, Chief Dunn. Your presence saved my girlfriend from a false accusation."

Fabian turned and apologized awkwardly. "I'm sorry, Mr. Jordan. Detective Walsh is only doing her job.”

Evan sneered and left the hospital, his hand holding Caroline’s.

Caroline struggled to break free, but Evan hushed her, saying quietly, “Help me out here if you want to stay unnoticed.”

Caroline clenched her teeth, thinking. Who’s responsible for all this mess? I wouldn’t have to hide if you weren’t with Daniella’

In Evan’s car, Caroline suppressed her anger. The moment Evan entered, she coldly remarked, “Are you mistaking me for someone else? I don’t need your help”

Sitting in the driver’s seat, Reuben stared at Caroline in a daze. ‘Why are you still trying to defend yourself, Ms. Shenton?

Evan gazed at her and said, “You can fool them, not me.

“I don’t get you” Caroline looked away, furious, her heart racing from the memories of her feelings for Evan

“Then why play along? Evan asked with a sly smile on his face.

He had trapped her!

Caroline tightened her lips. “Stop assuming, sir. I was not cooperating with you. I was avoiding trouble.”

“Really?” Evan chuckled, leaning closer. “Seems you don’t find me troublesome.”

“Thanks for tonight. Goodbye”

As Caroline reached for the door, Evan wrapped his arm around her waist, pulling her closer again.

His warm breath grazed her ear as he asked, his tone chilly, “How much longer will you hide from me, Caroline?”

Chapter 156

Chapter 156 You Investigated Me

Caroline swiftly broke free from Evan’s grip and cautiously stared at him. “Please control yourself, Mr. Jordan!”

Evan smiled faintly upon hearing the familiar remark

Did she realize she gave herself away when she blurted out “Mr. Jordan” like that? he wondered.

Evan didn’t create problems for Caroline but sat up straight and directed Reuben, “To Bayview Villa.”

Caroline’s anger flared as she looked at him. “Did you investigate me?”

“Yes,” Evan truthfully replied.

“You never learn to respect others! Caroline scolded.

“I don’t need to,” Evan said through his gritted teeth, radiating a cold aura. I’ve been searching for you for five years!”

“You didn’t have to find me!” Caroline countered.

“Caroline, don’t be ungrateful” Evan suppressed his anger.

“Did I ask you to find me?” Caroline’s cold gaze bore into him. I wouldn’t have hit such a low point in my life if it weren’t for you!”

“Did I plot your imprisonment?” Evan inquired.

“You believed Daniella without giving me a chance to explain!” Caroline’s rage caused her body to tremble. “If you had shown me even a bit of trust and listened, I wouldn’t be in this mess!”

Evan felt a tightening in his chest—he knew he was at fault. If only he had met the director earlier, he wouldn’t have fallen for Daniella’s scheme.

He had wronged Caroline in numerous ways.

Evan’s anger subsided, and his gaze softened. “I’m sorry.”

Caroline sneered. “Can I offer you an apology after I’ve killed you?*

Evan replied, “I’ll make it right.”

“You don’t have to!” Caroline rejected him. “I will be grateful if you can stop bothering me!”

Evan’s chest wrenched in pain when he heard Caroline’s merciless remark.

He said, “Don’t you want to seek revenge on her?”

“It’s none of your business!”

Reuben heaved a sigh, thinking. Mr. Jordan is going all out to get back Ms. Shenton, huh?”

Ten minutes later, Caroline stepped out of the car at Bayview Villa with Evan following her.

Hearing the car, the three children dashed toward the villa's entrance.

At the sight of Caroline, Liora burst into tears and hurried over "Mommy!"

Caroline lifted Liora, who was trembling from crying. "I'm sorry I made you worry, Lia "

Tyler, his eyes red from tears, approached Caroline. "Did they give you a hard time. Mommy?"

Caroline shook her head. "No, they just had coffee with me.

Tyler nestled against Caroline, thinking, "You're not telling the truth..."

He had used surveillance equipment to listen to the police questioning. This helped him know.

that she had been interrogated for an hour.

By the door, Axel clenched his fists with a pained expression. He wanted to go to his mother, but novelbin his father was present.

He had promised not to expose Caroline.

Scott and Lily emerged from the house, spotting Evan immediately.

Lily's gaze fell, guilt in her eyes, but Scott approached Evan. "Mr. Jordan, thank you for bringing Carol back."

"Carol?" Evan scoffed. "Are you two dating?"

Scott replied calmly, "Soon."

"Then why the intimate nickname?" Evan smirked, glancing at Axel. "Axel, care to enlighten me?"

Evan's expression turned serious immediately as Caroline criticized him in front of many people.

He glared at Caroline and retorted, "You took my child without asking, and now you're scolding me?"

"I didn't tell you beforehand, and I'm sorry!" Caroline's anger was evident in her clenched teeth. But consider Axel's feelings Questioning him right away might harm him. Haven't you seen how Axel is doing? Please, show some care and compassion"

Evan squinted. "Why are you so concerned about my child?"

Caroline was left speechless. She had forgotten that Evan didn't know her connection to Axel because she focused on Axel earlier.

She changed the topic quickly. "I'm just advising you to be gentle with Axel"

Evan scoffed and walked up to Caroline. "I'm curious why you're so invested in my son. Are you trying to get back at him after failing with Daniella?"

Caroline glared at Evan, thinking. 'Is it necessary to stoop so low and seek revenge on an innocent child?

"I'm right, aren't I? No comeback?"

“Mr. Jordan!”

Suddenly, Scott stepped forward and positioned himself between Caroline and Evan.

Their eyes met, and Scott spoke calmly. “Please understand Carol’s intention. Axel is struggling due to Daniella’s abuse. He needs special care now. Carol brought him here for a playdate, a form of therapy.”

Evan assumed an arrogant posture and regarded Scott with disdain. “You’re not qualified to address me.”

Reuben stepped in and said, “Doctor Wilson, please don’t involve yourself in Mr. Jordan and Ms.

Shenton’s affairs.”

“Bad man! You’re bad!” Liora rushed toward Evan unnoticed and started hitting him, defending.

Scott in a childlike manner. “You can’t bully Papa Wilson!”

Evan frowned and glanced down at the protective girl. He pursed his lips, thinking she resembled Caroline when she was angry.

Caroline, scared, quickly lifted Liora into her arms. “I’m sorry I didn’t watch her,” Caroline apologized, knowing it was her fault

Evan didn’t intend to punish Liora, but he was puzzled as she was calling Scott ‘papa Is she Caroline and Scott’s child? he wondered Evan looked at Tyler again. Why does this boy look so much like me?”

Pointing at Tyler, Evan asked, “How am I connected to him?”

Caroline shielded Tyler nervously and said with false calmness, "There's no connection!"

Evan noticed Caroline's odd behavior and asked, "If you're still alive, where are my three children?"

The three children all turned their gaze to Caroline.

Caroline was speechless. She couldn't say her children were dead when they were present.

Before Caroline could reply, Scott spoke. "Surviving heavy bleeding during pregnancy is already a miracle. Don't push it, Mr. Jordan!"

Caroline looked at Scott gratefully. He skillfully avoided the truth while protecting the children.

Caroline explained, "I care for orphans, and I adopted these children. Do you have a problem with that?"

Tyler and Liora were shocked to be called orphans. 1 novelbin

Evan sneered. "Adopted, yet they resemble both of us?"

"Ever heard the saying that you resemble the person you're with? What's this about Tyler looking like you? Are you implying only you have nice eyes?" Caroline responded directly.

Soon, she glanced at the two kids and said, "Let's go inside!"

Staying here longer wasn't an option—Evan might notice something!

She resolved to hide as long as possible. There was no time for child custody battles now!

Evan's face grew serious, watching Caroline flee with her kids.

On the way home, Evan turned to Axel, questioning. "Did you have fun at her place?"

Axel nodded. "Yeah."

"Your mom and Caroline are on bad terms. Aren't you worried she might do something bad?" Evan worried for Axel's safety.

Although Evan felt nothing for Daniella, he cared for his son

He couldn't fathom Caroline's motives after five years in hiding. He'd assist her in seeking revenge, but not at his son's expense.

Axel hurriedly looked up, concerned Evan might hold him back. He said urgently, "She's really nice!"

Axel's quick conviction about Caroline puzzled Evan, deepening his suspicions.

Reuben stated, "Mr. Jordan, I trust Ms. Shenton won't harm a child."

"You seem to know her well?" Evan asked.

Reuben shook his head. "No. You know Ms. Shenton's personality since she's on your mind. You wouldn't care to think of her if she were like Daniella."

"Now you know me too?" Evan's tone turned cold.

Reuben fell silent, inwardly complaining, 'Have you forgotten years of alcohol abuse?'

Quickly, Daniella dialed a number, but there was a delay before someone answered. "Mr. Hendrix!

Can you help me hire some people?"

Hector Hendrix responded rudely. "What are you up to?"

"I want Caroline's children dead Otherwise, I can't get back to Evan!" Daniella snapped.

"Don't involve me in your mess again." Hector coldly retorted.

"Mr. Hendrix, please! We can't spare the two kids!" Daniella pleaded "Oh, and Axel too [1] do whatever you want. Just help me get rid of these three kids!"

Hector replied, "Daniella, don't think you're the only one who can assist me. Don't test me"

"This is the last time! Daniella shouted.

"Fuck off!"

Daniella seethed as the call ended abruptly. novelbin

"Why is Hector acting like this? He always used to agree, even when we framed Caroline. Why won't he deal with the children?" she muttered.

Her interaction with Hector was only through phone calls.

However, based on Nicholas' situation, she knew Hector was capable. She had to be careful not to provoke him further, or she might end up dead.

Since Hector refused to assist, she had to find someone else.

The next morning, Caroline woke from a nightmare. She had dreamed of her kids lying in blood, Caroline eased herself out of bed, massaging her sore chest. She stepped out of the room to check on her children, her heart finding solace as she saw them deep in slumber.

Closing the door gently, Caroline settled into her children's bed. She tenderly kissed Tyler and Liora's foreheads, then embraced them snugly.

Her dream reminded her that she had neglected her children's safety recently. After returning to the country, she focused on dealing with Daniella and ignored her children's safety in Angelbay.

She thought about hiring some bodyguards to guard her children at all times.

Tyler opened his eyes drowsily after Caroline shut her eyes.

Why is Mommy in our bed all of a sudden? What's going on? He recalled Evan mentioning

Daniella at the villa's entrance Does Mommy have a problem with her?'

Tyler furrowed his brow and decided to investigate Daniella the next day.

Sunday arrived, and Caroline contacted Neil, recounting the previous day's incident and discussing the possibility of hiring bodyguards

Neil acknowledged, "We truly neglected the children's safety. I'll arrange for the bodyguards and make every effort to dissuade Evan from prying into the children-

Caroline interrupted him. "Neil, Daniella is our top priority. If the truth comes out, Evan might seek custody of the children."

Neil understood. "Noted. I'll assign someone to monitor Daniella. Take care of yourself, Carol, and don't hesitate to ask for help with the company."

Neil questioned in concern, "Is this manpower sufficient, Carol?"

Caroline was at a loss for words "How could ten bodyguards be deemed insufficient?" she wondered.

Caroline stopped Neil from going wild. "It's enough, Neil."

However, Neil persisted, "Inform me if you require more. Five will safeguard the villa, while the remaining five will accompany the children to school and spend time with you at the company.

Caroline smiled. "Honestly, two would be enough"

Caroline furrowed her brow, wondering how Daniella had found out she was at the kindergarten.

"Don't even have the guts to step out of the car and talk? You're a coward, Caroline," Daniella jeered.

Caroline came to realize that Daniella had probably reported her to the police. This conclusion was drawn from Daniella's anxious behavior.

is Daniella trying to trick me into leaving the car, so she can record my face and send it to the police again? I won't fall for her foolish scheme, Caroline thought.

Fighting with Daniella wouldn't resolve their feud, so there was no need for Caroline to exit the car

Caroline sent a text, and the bodyguards got out of the car to put an end to Daniella's harassment.

Starting her car, Caroline drove away while observing Daniella being led off.

Anne Wislow, Caroline's secretary, knocked and entered Caroline's office. She handed over the schedule. "You have a meeting this morning and a factory visit in the afternoon due to the new machines, Ms. Shenton"

Caroline nodded. "Sure, remind me when it's time."

After the meeting, Caroline was set to visit the factory. She swung by a cafe to grab Kenny's preferred coffee before departing.

As she turned with the coffee, she accidentally collided with someone, spilling the drink.

"I'm sorry, 1-"Caroline began but halted mid-sentence, surprised by the displeased expression on the person's face. It was Alex Price.

Alex brushed off the coffee stain. "It's alright."

His brows furrowed suddenly as he gave Caroline a discerning look.

While Caroline was buying coffee, she asked Anne to go to a nearby mall to fetch some clothes, Afterward, Caroline joined Alex and sat across from him.

“I wouldn’t dare to believe it’s you if we weren’t standing close,” Alex said.

Caroline passed him the coffee. “You’re joking. Mr. Price.”

Alex propped up his chin. “Isn’t Evan excited to see you?”

He is so excited that he keeps getting me in trouble!’ she complained inwardly.

Caroline refrained from the urge to complain. “He is married with children. Why would he be excited to see me?”

“Evan has a child but not a wife, Alex corrected.

Caroline took a sip of the coffee and nodded

Alex frowned “Where have you been for the past five years?”

Caroline looked at him. “Mr. Price, I believe that this is not related to you.”

“It is not related to me, but Evan is my best friend. I’m only asking on his behalf. You have no idea death.
