

Chapter 15- The Solar Eclipse Pack Attacked

Chapter 15- The Solar Eclipse Pack Attacked

Alpha James POV

I am laying in bed with Will in my arms. I am so glad that Selena mated us together, ever since meeting him our lives have changed for the better. We are now fathers to two beautiful girls and it has been a blessing to be a father. I never knew the unconditional love that children can give you, and it is an amazing feeling to be a family unit with my mate.

The pack has been very welcoming to Will when we rst got together, and since then we have gone from strength to strength. It helps that Goddess Emma is a close friend and whenever we have trouble, I call on her if I know that she is able to help the pack more than we can.

The pack itself loves us, they are always so kind to us and they adore our children. The children love being here and we have made sure that the pack is very much child friendly. When Alpha Eric was in charge there was a very sad atmosphere in the pack, but now the atmosphere is one of pride and happiness.

Eric is not happy about his position in the pack now, especially as he is bullied and beaten on a regular basis and then has to be a gigolo at night. I have not even stepped in because Goddess Emma deemed this punishment to be enough, plus the pack is enjoying getting their own back on their old abusive alpha. Turns out Eric was not the saint that he had the pack paint him out to be, there was a lot more corruption and allegations going on behind the scenes than even Goddess Emma knew about.

Last night was wonderful, we celebrated our anniversary and then we went to bed where we pleased each other for hours. I love being tender and rough with my mate at the same time, and he loves it when I let him take charge. Last night was the rst time that I submitted to him completely, and I must admit I thoroughly enjoyed it. And from the smirk on his face, so did Will.

We then fell into a deep sleep early hours in the morning, entwined in each others arms. There is nowhere else that I would rather be right now than with my mate.

But of course every good thing must come to an end and this is one of those times where the end comes way too soon.

ALPHA! ROUGES! Burt my head warrior shouts through the mind link.

I quickly jump out of bed, Will not that far behind me.

“Grab the children and go to the shelter babe, I will go deal with he rogues.” I say to him.

“No, I will come with you once I have got the children to safety.” Will argues.

I pull on my trousers.

“I don’t have time to argue, you have to stay in the bunker with the women and children. Please, don’t make me alpha order you.” I beg him.

Will looks like he wants to say something but then he nods, “Fine.”

“I’ll make it up to you when this is all done.” I say, giving him a kiss on the lips.

“I will be here, waiting to give you your punishment for leaving me behind.” I shouts as I run through the packhouse and out of the front door.

Promises. I reply through the mind link.

I change into my wolf and then run full pelt across the eld and to the part of the boundary where I feel the rest of the warriors have gathered. When I arrive my heart stops in my chest, there are not a few rogues here but hundreds.

They have come here and they mean business.

“What do you want?” I ask, changing into my human form.

“We want your pack.” Replies the man standing in front of all of the rogues. He was hard to see at rst because of the sea of rogues, but there he is standing at the front as though he has the right to demand whatever he wants.

“Like we will give you that. I am not giving my pack to a rogue!” I shout, a wave of growls iof agreeance come from my warriors.

“Oh, but I think you will.” He smirks.

“In your dreams.” I reply, just buying time until I get the all important mind link from Will that I have been waiting for. Afterall, I am not about to start a ght when we have vulnerable pack members behind us who need to be kept safe.

The children and women are safe. Will mind links me, and that is what I have been waiting for.

“ATTACK!” I shout.

As soon as the words leave my mouth my warriors are steaming ahead and tearing the rogues to pieces left, right and centre. I change back into my wolf and charge towards the man at the front, it is clear he is the leader and we need to take him down- dead or alive.

No matter how many of the rogues we kill they just keep on coming, we have killed so many and they are littered everywhere but for everyone we kill another two or three seem to take their place.

My warriors and I are starting to get tired, and I think that is the rogues plan. When we are tired we become lethargic, sloppy and easier to pick off. I need to act before any of my warriors are killed, as of so far we have injured but we have not sustained any deaths. But if something does not happen soon then we will all be killed.

I decide then to call on the one person who can help, the one person who can turn the tide for us.

HELP!

Emma POV

HELP!

I am jolted awake by the scream of James, as he is still my beta I am still connected to him and he has just woken me up. His voice is full of panic.

What is happening? I ask worriedly.

We are being attacked! James says back, so quickly I barely catch it.

I jump out of bed, which causes Inga to rise from his sleep.

“Honey?” He asks, his voice sleep laden.

“James and Solar Eclipse pack are being attacked. I am off to help them.” I say, getting dressed quickly.

“Don’t you mean we?” Inga asks.

I feel bad for the next words out of my mouth, but I know that time is of the essence and if I don’t get there soon then the hellish night might just get worse.

“No babe, me.” I say, opening up a portal to James’ oce and stepping through.

I know it was a rotten thing to do, but I also know that Inga will get his warriors and healers to come here and they will arrive within the hour. But the lives that would be lost would be too great, so I have one ahead as the primary force.