11 At All Odds

Tia.

Two Months Later...

Ever since the incident with Caleb, Luke had been guarded around me. He was pleasant and got me everything he felt I needed without me asking, but I knew he had put up a wall between us, and he never returned home until the early hours of the morning.

The kiss I shared with Caleb pushed him to spend more time with Elisabeth, which was good for her. My heat never came and I saw that as a blessing too. 1

I continued my combat training with Caleb and Kirk, and even though Caleb tried to get me in private, I never allowed it. I always made sure Kirk was there. I wished we could go back to being friends, but it was hard now that Caleb had made his intentions known to me. I still had a crush on him, and I was fighting it with all my might. I was his brother's wife now, and I knew Stacy had it in for me for reasons best known to her. I knew it was best I kept things formal between Caleb and me.

Luke had set up a gym for me on the left-wing; Luna Stacy was making my life unbearable. She insisted we have breakfast with the family. Now that the non-existent honeymoon phase was over, we had to have breakfast with the family. There was a lot of tension during breakfast. There were times I wanted to run away from the place. Luna Stacy usually picked on me during breakfast; Caleb and Luke coming to my defence all the time made it worse; soon, I started avoiding breakfast all together. It had been a month since I had breakfast with the family. Other than breakfast, I was banned from going to the right-wing, and I respected Luke's order. I wasn't allowed to do as I liked, but he went to his girlfriend every night, having the time of his life. What a bloody hypocrite. I loved reading, so I started using the public library during my free hours. I was tempted to buy books, but why spend money when I could read them for free in the community library? It was hell, but I was pushing through. I woke up in the morning and was shocked to find Luke was still around. I did not bother to ask him anything. I just went to the bathroom to get ready for the day. I had combat training by ten in the morning, and I planned to go to the library by four in the evening. I returned to the room and curled up on the bed. “We have to go to the right–wing for breakfast, Tia. My father is beginning to complain,” He said, and I did not care. “It doesn’t matter whether I am there or not. Please spare me the torture of dealing with your mother and your brother.” I said, and he was silent a bit before he finally spoke. “Sneaking about with Caleb will end after breakfast,” he said with certainty. I could not believe he still believed something was going on between Caleb and me. “I am not involved with Caleb. He is my friend, and I will be his Gamma. You do not expect me to avoid him altogether when I have to train with him; besides, you shouldn’t care. Your life did not change drastically like mine did. You get to be with Elisabeth every night,” I shot at him, tired of the accusations. “I have a problem with you being involved with my brother, Tia,” he said, and I looked at him out of frustration.

“Just annul the marriage so you can have peace of mind. There is nothing between us.” I said, and he smiled.

“Get dressed for breakfast. Kimberly has moved in with Caleb, and we are to have breakfast as a family,” he said, and I knew my face faltered. I knew she would come, but I did not think she was coming again after a month had passed. “I can’t believe you, Tia. You are still in love with that douchebag,” he said, and I was stunned at his words. I felt only sorry for Caleb because he was adamant the baby wasn’t his.

I got up and went to dress up. It did not take me long when I exit the closet.

“After today, you will not be welcomed in the right-wing again. Luna Stacy does not want the couple to be distracted, and she feels you are trying too hard to get her son’s attention. Just giving you the heads up, so you won’t be surprised when she says it,” he said to me and stepped out of the room. I followed him out of the room and braced myself for whatever the family had in store for me. Kimberly would have it easy in the moon mansion. She wasn’t from a middle-class home. In fact, I heard her parents paid Luna Stacy a handsome sum to plead with her son to accept

While we walked, I received a message from Elisabeth. The bitch had put it upon herself to send me pictures of her and Luke in bed. It made me sick. This one was a video of both of them in bed doing stuff to each other and recording themselves. He was videoing her and telling her how beautiful she looked. They were laughing together. "Let me see that," Luke said, asking for my phone. The video was playing out loud. I handed it to him.

"Tell your mistress that I get the message, and she does not need to send me pictures and videos of how you spend your time together," I said and walked past him. Tears stung my eyes because, for a second, there in his arms on the wedding day, I was willing to make an effort if he offered. Until he left me that night to go to her and has done that ever since. After the kiss Caleb and I shared in the library, it became worse. Now I just want to train and resume my duties when the time comes.

"Tia, Tia," Luke called after me while I walked. He caught up with me and stopped me.

“Why didn’t you tell me you have been receiving these messages?” He asked me, and I smiled sarcastically. “Don’t tell me you were not aware of it. From the onset, you have told me that Elisabeth is the main person in your life. I honestly do not want to be here, but I am. She has you. Please let her know that you are hers, and she does not need to rub it in,” I said, and he looked stunned. “I will handle it, I promise. I..” he said, trying to explain, and I shook my head.

“No need to explain to me,” I said, and we continued to walk. Everyone was at the table when we got there. Caleb looked at me with fear and regret. Luke and I greeted Stacy and Alpha Aesop and then sat to eat.

“Tia, I do not want you around Caleb anymore; as you can see, he is about to be married and judging by your history, I do not want you troubling my son’s marriage,” she said, and I did not say a word.

“Are you deaf!” she asked me, and I got so pissed off that I yelled at her. I was tired; I had bottled up a lot for two months.

Training and reading to get this shit off my mind.

“I have no business with your son. Stop picking on me! I am sick and tired of your shit. I hate that I am here. I do not want to be in this house, but here I am. Leave me the fuck alone, and you have no right to tell me what I can and cannot do. Caleb will be alpha, and I will be Gamma. I worked so hard for that position. I do not care what your misgivings are, but you should leave me out of it.” I said and stood up.

“Alpha Moon, I will like to excuse myself!” I said to Alpha Moon, and he looked at me, stunned.

Everyone was shocked. I had had it. I wanted to go back to Luke’s wing, pack my shit, and get the fuck out of there. I wasn’t going to leave the pack, but renting a place outside was best for me at this moment to keep my sanity. My hormones were raging; my husband had a mistress, and his brother, who was my long time crush, suddenly realised his feeling and won’t let me go, and that got me in trouble with my husband and his mother. My movements are being monitored, and I feel boxed in; now this bitch was trying to literally control my life. I was done with this.

Stacy got up and almost slapped me, but Luke held her hand. Caleb reached for her hand too, but Luke caught it, and I think he squeezed it because she flinched.

“Let her go, Luke!” Alpha Aesop said, and Luke reluctantly left her hand but stood in front of me so she would not be able to hit me.

“Tia, apologise to your Luna,” Alpha Aesop ordered. I had tears in my eyes. This was unfair. His wife gets to be a bitch and is unapologetic about it, but I have to be sorry for defending myself.

“Luke, tell your wife to apologise to your mother or I will have you discipline her and her parents cast out of the pack!” Alpha Aesop said, and I was shocked at his words.

“Tia, please say sorry,” Luke linked me, pleading. It was hard, but I managed to do so.

“Henceforth, you are not welcome at this table. Tia. I thought you were a sweet, calm girl. I actually believed you were too good for Caleb that was why I joined you with Luke. I did not know you were like this,” He said, and Luke started laughing. “You are blind to see that your mate spoils everything she touches. Tia is sweet and patient but yet Stacy managed to provoke her. Please do not call her my mother again, father. It is an insult. Look at how she wrecked our lives,” Luke said, coming to my defence.

“Fine, Tia and I would no longer come for breakfast here,” Luke said. “Sit down, Luke! Sit down now!” Alpha Aesop said I did not know what was happening here.

“Your stepmother has her reasons,” He said and handed Luke an envelope.

There were pictures of Caleb and me. At a cafe and other places before, during and after training. They were innocent hangouts, and Kirk was there, but the photographer made it seem like we were up to no good. They must have photoshopped it. Then my white panties were in the envelope too. “This was found in Caleb’s pocket during laundry,” Alpha Aesop said with rage in his eyes. “Father this..” Caleb tried to explain, but his father yelled at him. “If I knew she was a slut, I wouldn’t have bought her for you, Luke. Feel free to annul the marriage so I can cast her and her parents out of this pack. She is shameless and a disgrace to this family. I do not want the likes of Tia around me. Sleeping with your husband’s brother is low and disgusting. If you get pregnant, know that you will be aborting it,” He said to me, and I started laughing in shock. I could not believe my eyes. I could not believe how far Stacy would go to ensure Caleb and me were no longer friends. "Tia, you need to stop laughing," Luke linked me, annoyed, but if only he looked at me, he would know I was crying and laughing simultaneously. It was a mild form of madness that came with shock. My eyes were fixed on Stacy, who had a straight face as if she had done nothing wrong. The woman was shameless.

What more did she want from me? I was out of Caleb's life for good. "You might have finished second place at the academy, but you will not be Gamma. I will not give you room to pursue your desires any further than you have. The Miles are essential to this pack, and their daughter will be Caleb's wife soon. You cannot create trouble for us," Alpha Aesop said. I was laughing with tears streaming down my face. I looked at Caleb. Suddenly I wasn't listening anymore. Caleb was arguing with his father about something, but I felt numb. There was no way I would get out of this. I worked so hard for that position, and just like that, they had taken it away from me. "Alpha, these are lies," I managed to say, "I worked very hard for that position, alpha. Please.

Investigate this matter; how can I be sleeping with Caleb? I.. am,” I wanted to say I was a virgin, but he shut me up. “Enough!

Please leave this wing. Whatever your husband decides is none of my business, but once you are out of this house, know that you and your parents no longer have a pack,” Alpha Aesop said, and I began to cry. “Father, please, let her be Gamma. Please. I will make sure she doesn’t come here again, but please do not take that from her,” I heard Luke say. I knew he believed the pictures too.

“Very well then, but if anything happens between Caleb and her, I hope you can handle it,” Alpha Aesop said, seeming to have a soft spot for Luke than he had for Caleb. Luke stood and picked up my panties and the envelope in hand. He held on to my arm tight and pulled me out of place.

12 How I like My Coffee

Tia.

My heart was in my mouth as Luke pulled me to his wing; he did not say anything. I had no words in my mouth. I was afraid.

We entered the room, and he tossed me on the bed. I became scared about what he would do to me. The pictures and my panties were still in his hands, shaking.

“Why, Tia, did it have to be him? Why won’t you just leave him alone? He said he didn’t want you when our father asked him. He did not like you enough to fight for you, and you do this,” he said, and tears were streaming down my face. Luna Stacy was wicked.

“Wh, Tia?” he asked me. Luke’s eyes were teary, and I shook my head. “They are lies, Luke. Yes, we hang out and train together with Kirk there, just as we always have. It is part of the job, and you know it. The photos have been photoshopped. Other than the time we kissed in the library, we have not done anything,” I explained, and he calmed down and looked at me. He looked at me long and hard and then sighed. I hoped he would believe me. I needed someone to believe me because Alpha Aesop had shown me he was a mad man. Casting my parents out for this was wicked. It was wrong for the goddess to give one family all the power.

“I believe you,” he said, and I was shocked that he believed me easily. I looked at him to be sure, then sighed with relief. I could not believe he believed me that easily.

“Stacy has done worse to me, Tia. You have to be careful around her,” he said, and I shook my head. I was in complete shock; this had never happened to me before. No one has ever lied against me before. The woman was a bitch, and Alpha Aesop was a fool and an asshole. They deserved each other. I was shaking uncontrollably.

Luke sat next to me on the bed and held me to his chest to calm me down.

“I am sorry I dragged you here,” he said, and I was sobbing. “Guess we will not be eating breakfast with them anymore,” he said, rubbing my back, and I tried to be calm. The shock of what had happened was rushing through my body, but I tried to calm down.

“Go and take a warm shower, Tia. Dress up, and I will take you out,” Luke said, and I was shocked.

“Don’t you have to go to the office?” I asked him, and he smiled.

“My wife is more important than the office right now. I can’t leave you like this,” He said. “I don’t want to shower, Luke. I want a shot of brandy or whisky, anything strong,” I said, and he looked at me, surprised.

“Okay, Bart will bring you what they have,” he said, and I nodded. “I will investigate this. I promise,” Luke said to me, and I tried to calm down.

Was this how my life would be here, living in fear with my heart in my mouth all the time? How long will I survive this? If Luke annuls the wedding, I am sure Alpha Aesop will carry out his threats.

Luke took me out, and we spent the day in the park; we had fun. We liked almost the same flavours of ice cream, but our toppings differed. Luke and I had a lot in common, and our views were quite similar. If it weren't that he already had someone in his heart, I would have wanted to try with him. I was happy he believed me, and he was protecting me from his monstrous parents.

We did not get home until in the evening time. Luke did not go out that evening; he stayed home, and we watched some movies together. I still could not shake the fact that Stacy had set me up, but I was glad Luke believed me and supported me. He promised to get to the bottom of the matter, and I hoped he would succeed. One week later, Alpha Aesop summoned me to the breakfast room. I was reluctant to go, but Luke promised he would protect me. I wasn't afraid of them; I just did not want the man to cast my parents and me out of the pack. When I got to the breakfast table, everyone was there.

“What are you doing here?”

Luna Stacy asked. “I sent for her, Stacy,” Alpha Aesop said, and my hands shook while I stood. Luke held my hand to calm me down, but I couldn’t. I was afraid. Caleb was not happy that Luke touched my hand; his eyes showed it. I wished I could run away from that place. What else had Stacy concocted against me? “Have you eaten?” Alpha Aesop asked, and I nodded.

“Please sit,” he said. He sounded nicer. I sat down, and Luke sat next to me. He placed his hand on my thigh and rubbed lightly to calm me down, but his touch got me aroused, and this wasn’t the place for that. “Tia, I am sorry about what happened. I have wronged you deeply,” Alpha Aesop said, and I looked at him with shock. Stacy was shocked too. ”

Apparently, it was lies. Caleb caught the photographer and the staff who stole your underwear from your room. My apologies, please,” He said, and relief washed through me and tears of relief began to fall.

These people had gotten a lot of tears out of me in a short period. “Why would they do it?" Luke asked and pulled me close to his chest to comfort me. I held him for the comfort he offered at that moment. It felt good to be vindicated. I thanked Caleb through the mind link for his effort.

"I asked them the same question, but they wouldn't speak," Caleb said and looked at his mother, which was an obvious statement.

"We all know who put them up to it even if you wouldn't admit it, father. Those people had nothing to gain in setting Tia up like that. Only one person here dislikes my wife for reasons best known to her. We will keep having problems in this house if you do not deal with the problem," Luke said to his father, and Alpha Aesop nodded. "I agree," Alpha Aesop said, "I will be sending Stacy to her town to reflect on her choices. I cannot divorce her, but if she chooses to continue like this, I will shun her and strip her of her luna title even before Caleb assumes the alpha position," he said with anger in his eyes. "You don't dare!" Luna Stacy growled.

"Your things have been packed, and you will leave after breakfast. Stacy tried to protest, but he ordered her to be quiet.

“I need peace, and my sons need to focus. I also know about the money you took from the Miles. There will be no wedding until the paternity of that baby is determined. Caleb might be promiscuous, but he is my son. He has been adamant that Kimberly’s baby isn’t his, so I will give him the benefit of the doubt and have the baby tested. Pending on the result, we will know what to do.” He said, and Kimberly started shedding silent tears. She excused herself and left. Stacy tried to stop her, but she refused to stop. I sat there still shaking, waiting for the other shoe to drop, but it never did.

“Thank you, Alpha Caleb,” I said to my friend, and he smiled at me. If he had not investigated, his father would have looked at me as a whore.

“When are you going to claim your wife, Luke. It has been two months now,” Alpha Aesop said, and Luke bowed his head, still rubbing my back gently.

“We are taking things slow,” He said, and my stomach churned because a claiming would seal my fate. I wasn’t ready to take that step with him. We had never kissed or made out before, and Elisabeth was still in the picture.

We returned to the bedroom after breakfast. I urged Luke to go to work, and soon, he did.

The house was peaceful without Stacy in it. It had been a week since she left. Luke always came home at two in the morning. I did not need to know where he had been, although he would claim he was working late. I did not understand why he even bothered to form an excuse. He had told me he would be with her from the onset, so there was no need. However, the messages and photos stopped since that day. He must have told her to stop; I did not let it bother me. I continued my training.

My phone rang, and it was Caleb. I did not want to answer because I knew why he was calling, but I did anyway, just in case it was serious.

“Hello,” I said, and he was silent.

“Tia,” he breathed my name. Why didn’t he do all this while I was single and crushing on him? Why now?

“Tia, please, hang in there. Don’t let Luke claim you. I know Kimberly’s baby isn’t mine. Once that is established and she is out of the way, Luke will have no choice but to annul the marriage. Please, Tia.” He begged me, and I could not believe this guy. He was a bit like his mother. He could not see the error of his ways. He slept with these girls knowing I had feelings for him. He would definitely cheat on me if we ever got together. He wasn't making getting over him easy, and I did not like his determination.

"How do I like my coffee, Caleb?" I asked him, and he was silent. I bet my question caught him by surprise. It was unrelated, but I had to ask. We had breakfast every day together for four years. We started drinking coffee together at the same time. I wanted to know how much he knew about me. I wanted to know how well he was looking at me. How much did he see.

"With cream and sugar?" he asked, and I sighed. "That is how you like it, and I always drank my coffee like that when we were together. I am lactose intolerant, Caleb, but I drank my coffee with cream and sugar just so we could share something in common, which was also why I joined the elite Academy. I wanted us to have something in common. You never saw me or pretended not to notice that I cared. You changed girlfriends like sheets and flaunted them in my face. Why do you want me now? Now that I no longer have to drink my coffee with milk again. Now that I no longer follow you everywhere you go, and I am moving on. Why?" I asked him, and he paused long and hard. "How do you like your coffee Tia?" he asked, and I smiled.

"I told you how I liked my coffee once, and you laughed about it, but you can't remember — Black with sugar and a hint of cocoa. I don't particularly appreciate eating animals we hunt either, among other things that I did so that you can see me. Even if Luke annuls my marriage to him, I will not come after you as I did in the past. I will not ache for you. Knowing that you knew how I felt all these years and still did those things hurts, Caleb." I said to him, and he sighed.

"Tia, please," He pleaded with me. His voice cracked.

"I am miserable without you. I do not want to be just friends with you anymore. I want us to be more than that. I want to be your mate, and I want to love you. Make love to you. I want to show you how deeply I feel and how much I want you. Please, Tia," He pleaded, and tears streamed down my face. Those words would have been welcomed three months ago. My panties would have fallen off, but how could I even think it now that I was married to his brother? I could not leave Luke or my parents, and I will be cast out. I did not need anyone to tell me that Alpha Aesop had a softer spot for Luke than Caleb.

“If you had said this three months ago, I would have been happy, Caleb. I would have fallen into your arms, but you did not see me then, and now I am your brother’s wife,” I pointed out, “Please let me get over you in peace.”

“I see you, Tia, I always have. I thought we had time, but I guess I was wrong. They took you away from me, but I will not give you up, Tia. I will fight for your love as I should have. Even though you are married to my brother, I will take you back,” Caleb said, and my heart was in my mouth. How was I going to survive this? I would be lying if I said my heart wasn’t still beat for him, but I knew it was hopeless.

“Please hang on for me,” Caleb said and hung up. I could not say anything anymore. I was worried and scared. My head told me to walk away, but how could I walk away from something I invested four years of my life in? I needed help, and Luke's relationship with Elisabeth wasn't helping 13 I want to try

Luke.

Ever since the kiss between Tia and Caleb, I had been guarded towards her. I spent long hours in the office and always came home late. Tia was hanging out a lot with Caleb, and every time I sat in the office, all I could do was picture them together. I did not know why it bothered me, but it did, and it hurt. I knew she was deliberately avoiding breakfast, and I did not bother her because Stacy was obnoxious towards her. I knew Stacy had been reporting her a lot, but when my father linked me and insisted I come with Tia, I knew something must be off, but then again, I remembered Kimberly had joined us, and I thought they only wanted us to have breakfast together.

Hearing the old video of Elisabeth and me playing on Tia's phone got me mad. I did not know why Elisabeth refused to move on.

I still sent her money and urged her to move on, but I did not realise she was tormenting my wife with old videos of us when we were together. I knew she was hurting, but she wasn't the only victim in this. She had the freedom to fall in love again and move on, but Tia and I were stuck together. If Tia leaves, my father will cast her and her parents out because he viewed her as an asset, and I also knew it had a lot to do with his ego. I dared not leave her. I was putting effort, but she had her eyes locked on Caleb, and I could not compete with her long time crush. Maybe after seeing Kimberly with him, she would have the courage to move on with her life.

Tia's outburst during breakfast amazed me, but I could see that she had a lot bottled up. I also believed the messages Elisabeth kept sending, my absence, and the tension with Caleb and Stacy's wickedness caused it. Her hands shook while she spoke, and my father was stunned. The woman had finally cracked.

I stopped Stacy from slapping her. She could say and do as she liked, but I would never allow her to lay hands on my wife. That was the line. My father's response was shocking. Even after he showed me the photos and Tia's lace panties that had her sent on them, I was still disappointed. There were better ways to handle the matter. If the pictures were genuine, Caleb was just as guilty as she was. My father's response was wicked. I had to drag my wife out of the breakfast lounge. It was challenging, but I had to do it. I watched her shake from fear on the bed, and my heart broke. The woman was too young for all this. Stacy did not spare me all my life; I shouldn't be surprised that she would spare Tia. When Tia told me it wasn't true, I believed her. I knew she had a crush on Caleb, but I also knew she had her dignity and would never stoop so low. I held her because I knew at that moment she needed comfort. I promised myself that I would investigate.

Caleb was able to clear Tia's name, and my father had sent his wife away temporarily to reflect on her action. That wasn't the first time he would do that, and that wouldn't be the last. I wasn't happy with him still. The amount of hatred he visited on Tia when he believed the lies were unfair. Tia was very young, and she was prone to mistakes. He did not treat her as he would his daughter. He treated her like an object he had purchased and could discard. I knew if it weren't for the fear that her parents would be cast out, my wife would run away. overtime at the office to get paid extra. I wanted to surprise Tia. I believed being couped up in that house was not helping her let go of her crush, and it wasn't giving us time to know each other. Even if we would never be lovers, we could at least be friends.

So I decided I would surprise her with a trip to a nice resort, away from Caleb, my father and all the drama that came with the Moons.

I got home and found her sleeping. It was two in the morning, and I did not expect her to be awake. I had been paid, so I was ready to tell her about our trip. I showered and went to check on her before I go to bed. I noticed something protruding from under her pillow, and I checked to see it. I smiled when I saw what it was. My wife was making sure she was self sufficient with the right tools. It was a vibrator, and I wished I was home to watch her like I did last time. The image was burned in my memory, and I hoped that she would moan that way for me someday.

I woke up in the morning and looked toward Tia's room. She was reading a book on the bed. I looked at the clock, and it was nine in the morning. I overslept. I got up and went to the bathroom, freshened up and returned to the room.

"Good morning, Tia," I said, and she looked up at me with her beautiful brown eyes and smiled.

"Good morning," she replied. Her smile let me know that the orgasm she gave herself must have taken some edge off.

"Have you eaten," I asked her, and she shook her head, which surprised me?

"Was waiting for you to wake up so we can eat together before you go out," She said, and I knew what she meant about going out. It was time to tell her the truth.

We went to the lounge together, and we ate in silence. "Tia," I said, and she looked at me, "I want us to spend two weeks at the beach resort," and she widened her eyes.

"Me?" She asked, a bit confused.

"Yes, you," I said, and she was silent. I boldly reached for her hand, and she let me touch it. "I want to try, Tia," I said, and she jerked her hands away from mine. "I am not a fool, Luke," she said, and I heard a crack in her voice.

“I am not with Elisabeth. I broke up with her a week before I married you, Tia. Those videos are old. She is desperate.” I said, and she shook her head.

“Stop lying. You go to her every night. Everyone knows. Everyone knows.” she said, sounding angry, and I did not know that my absence would affect her that much. I shook my head quickly.

“I leave the room and drive about, then come home. I know if I stay, I would touch you, and you are not ready for that.” I said, and she looked at me.

“I do not believe you,” She said, and I bowed my head.

“Please, Tia. I am not with Elisabeth. Look at me,” I said, and she looked at me.

“Would I lie to you about that?” I asked, and she was silent.

“When I came to your house, I was angry. Stacy had said some things, and I wanted to know. I said many insensitive things I can never take back, and I am sorry. I do not think it is fair for us to be miserable when we can get to know each other and try,” I said, and her face faltered.

“The office?” She asked quietly.

“I was working overtime, so I could get extra money to book for the resort,” I said to her, and she relaxed a bit.

“As much as I would like to go to the beach resort, I do not want to have issues with Elisabeth. “She said gently, and I touched her hand.

“I am not with Elisabeth. I do not have a mistress. I am not seeing anyone,” I said to her, “I tried to tell you that day that she sent you the video, but you shut me up,” I said to her, and I knew she did not believe me, but she was willing. “Okay,” she said, agreeing, and I smiled.

We returned to our bedroom, and we sat at the foot of her bed while we went through the resort’s website to book.

“Should we book a room with double beds?” I asked her, and she nodded. I was sad about it, but I knew she needed time.

Fortunately for me, only their honeymoon chalet was available, and Tia said we should take it.

We packed our stuff, and Bart helped take the bags to the car; Caleb accosted us on our way out of the Mansion.

“Luke!” he called out to me, and I got pissed off. When would this guy stop?

“What is it?” I answered him.

“Please, Luke. Let her go, don’t do this,” he pleaded with me as if I wanted to do something sinister to my wife.

“Mind your damn business and stop troubling me and my wife, Caleb. You had your chance, and you blew; why won’t you just let her be?” I asked him.

“You know she loves me, Luke. You have someone you love, and she loves you back. Don’t take her from me,” He pleaded.

“Your mother took her from you when she forced our father to purchase her for me. And stop spewing that nonsense about Elisabeth and me. Stop filling Tia’s head with lies. Elisabeth and I are no more. I broke up with her a week before my wedding.

Please, Caleb. This is not healthy. Move on and leave Tia alone. There is a pregnant girl in there crazy about you,” I said, and he flared up.

“Don’t tell me what to do. I do not want Kimber..” He said, and I cut him short. “You should have thought about what you wanted before sleeping with her. You should have told father how you felt about Tia.” I said and started walking away from him.

“Tia, please don’t believe his lies! Luke is a monster!” he yelled at my wife, and I flinched at that word. I went to the driver’s seat, started the car and drove off. I was angry, furious. I looked at Tia, and she just stared ahead.

“I promise you will have some peace and quiet at the resort Tia,” I said to my wife, and she nodded slightly. Tia remained silent all through the drive. I hope this vacation will improve our relationship. If nothing, I hoped we could be friends.

14 Getting To Know You

Tia.

I sat quietly in the car while Luke drove us to the resort. I couldn't utter a word. The exchange between him and Caleb over me was embracing, and I felt like my presence in their home was driving a wedge between them.

We got to the resort and entered our room quietly. The room was exquisite, fit for a couple in love, but we weren't.

We set our things down and settled into the Chalet. The air was clean, and it felt new. Different. If nothing, I knew I would have some peace. I won't have to walk on eggshells, avoid being alone with Caleb and deal with an absent husband. I did not know if Luke was telling the truth about Elisabeth, but deep down, I hoped he was. I wanted to try too. The rest of our lives was long, and

I wished we could find something to keep us. I watched him set his wristwatch on the bed stand, and I hoped he was telling me the truth about Elisabeth, and his late nights were indeed what he said they were.

“Why are you being nice to me, Luke?” I asked him, suspicious of his intentions towards me. He looked at me and seemed speechless. After placing our suitcases in the cupboard, he sat on the couch. I sat at the foot of the kingsize bed, waiting for an answer. “Why will you ask me that?” He asked softly as if I had asked a confusing question. “Well, this is quite a contrast from what you told me when you visited me at my father’s house. You were clear on many things,” I said to him so he would know I hadn’t forgotten the awful things he said sitting on the porch the day he visited with his father. Luke bowed his head and seemed a bit ashamed. “I came to your house, angry and hurt. Stacy had said some things to me, and I overreacted. I also wanted to study you. I did not mean anything I said,” He said to me and looked at me with his blue eyes pleading for me to believe him.

” Elisabeth? Didn’t you love her enough?” I asked him, and a hint of sadness washed through his face.

“I cared a lot about her, but Stacy had made my dad force me into marrying you, knowing full well you were interested in my brother. I knew you would be sad and miserable. I could not in good conscience let you be miserable alone. How could I watch your life change drastically while mine remained intact? Above all, I could not disrespect you by keeping a mistress, and I did not want Elisabeth to be a mistress. She could move on, fall in love and settle down with someone else. So we are not miserable together; I am determined to put an effort, Tia, even if not for romance but for friendship,” He said, and his words surprised me.

Why did they say he was an asshole? He wasn't full of shit.

“You are kind to me,” I said, summing up his behaviour towards me.

“Why will people say bad things about you?” I asked, and he chuckled.

“You have experienced Stacy first hand. Imagine what she had the opportunity to do ever since I was little. She did not want me to succeed my father, and she made sure of it by telling the world I had killed an innocent pack member; among other things, she said against me just to make people hate me and disqualify me for the Alpha position,” He said, and I was curious.

“You mean you didn’t kill anyone?” I asked, surprised, and he shook his head.

“I wasn’t drunk, but my break failed, and someone included silver in the accident. It was the silver that killed the biker. I knew it was meant to kill me, but I escaped, ” He said, and I felt a tinge of anger for his sake, “Do you think Stacy tried to kill you?” I asked, and he looked at me with concern.

” Please do not say that again, Tia. It might get you in trouble. As strong as my father may seem, he is a fool for her,” He said, and I nodded, understanding what he said.

“Tia, I would like to get to know you and become friends if you do not mind,” He said, looking at me. I had no reason to say no.

He was a true gentleman and patient. He was also my husband. Another man would have fucked and claimed me, but he considered my feelings and gave me a choice.

Allowing a friendship wasn’t too much.

We spent the rest of the day watching movies and talking about stuff.

We slept at both edges when it was time to sleep and remained that way until morning.

By morning we got ready, and breakfast was served.

Luke looked handsome in shorts and a loose white shirt. He didn't button all the way up so I could see the tattoos on his chest.

He looked hot. His eyes caught me staring, and he gave me a half-smile. I felt uncomfortable and looked away immediately.

"You can feed your eyes, Tia. Trust me, I feed my eyes every night when I watch you sleep and have to cover you with the blanket," He said, and I was embarrassed by his words. I was wearing an oversized T-shirt with lace panties he bought me. Luke bought a lot of sexy stuff for me. He really wanted to try; I relaxed and hoped this would lead somewhere. "How do you like your coffee?" He asked me, ready to serve it.

"Sugar and cocoa," I said, and he raised an eyebrow and looked at me, surprised.

"Wow, how did you come up with that combo?" He asked, looking amused and not disgusted as I had thought he would.

"I am lactose intolerant, so I get creative often," I said, and he looked a bit sad.

"So, you like the taste of milk, but it reacts like poison to your system?" he said, and I nodded.

"Noted. No more milk allowed," He said, and I was surprised at his words.

“You can have milk, Luke,” I said smiling, and he shook his head. “You love cream, but your body can’t handle it, so you deprive yourself of it. That is torture alone. Watching me drink it will be another form of torture, and I never want to do that to you. I will drink my coffee with cocoa too. The taste might grow on me. It is the least I can do to show my support,” he said, and my heart melted. Though guarded, it melted. This was the first time a guy would care about me enough to go out of his way to do something for me. Luke, must really want my friendship. I hope he wasn’t trying to deceive me and let me down.

I watched him make the coffee with chocolate, and we both drank it. Obviously, the first taste was alien to his palette, but it soon looked as if it got better.

After breakfast, Luke asked me to take a long walk with him by the beach to get to know each other. I obliged and wore a twopiece turquoise bikini he bought for me with a short crochet jacket that stopped high above my knees. I noticed he was staring at me for a while. While we walked, he stole glances at me, and it was cute.

“Tia have you thought of going back to medical school?” he asked me, and I was surprised at his question.

“I will be gamma,” I said, and we stopped walking.

“Tia, everyone knows you joined the academy because of Caleb. You are good at it, but I have also noticed you read many medical books. You can have both, you know?” He said, and I frowned at him.

He was paying attention.

“Even if I wanted to, it is too expensive for me,” I said, and he shook his head.

“I own Diamond Corp. I can pay for it,” He offered, and I shook my head.

“I do not want Stacy’s trouble for both of us. You work there. She convinced your father to remove you from the Alpha position; she might take your job,” I said, and he laughed a bit. “You are truly selfless, Tia. I wished we met properly and courted before all this. Diamond Corp is one thing Stacy can’t do anything about; that is why she is after the fortune Kimberly Miles will get her. She isn’t after Caleb’s well-being and his unborn child. All she is after is herself. Diamond corp and Moon money belonged to my mother, and my father handed everything to me. I am the boss at Diamond corp. I am only working my way up to understand the company's structure, operations, and business. It is also to help me understand the workers and their working conditions so I could make good changes and run the business informed." He explained, and I was stunned by everything.

"What about Caleb?" I asked innocently, and for a second, I noticed his face faltered, but he masked it immediately. Honestly, I wasn't asking because of my crush on him. I asked because I was his friend, and I knew how hurt and difficult this would be for him.

"He gets to be alpha, and the right-wing of the moon mansion belongs to him," Luke answered drily, and I understood what Alpha Aesop had done. Although Stacy ruined Luke's chance of being an Alpha, he managed to find a way to place Luke above Caleb and make him the true head of the family and Pack. An alpha is nothing without money and resources. Caleb would eventually have to listen to

15 Now You See Me

Tia.

Luke was a perfect gentleman at the resort. We got to know a lot about each other. Our likes and dislikes, among other stuff. It was also easy because there was no distraction. No, Stacy or Caleb, it was peaceful.

The first week was fantastic with Luke, and I didn't want it to end. He kept telling me he wanted us to try to make it work, and honestly, he had stolen my heart from the moment he told me he believed me when Stacy concocted lies against me, but I held back because I believed Elisabeth was in the picture. She wasn't anymore, and now I could explore what it truly is to be married to Luke.

I had the intention to take a leap of faith. I knew Luke would not make any moves on his part out of uncertainty about what I wanted, so I had to be a brave woman and make the first move. I did not know how, but I knew I would when the opportunity presented itself deep down. I will just act and not overthink it.

I exited the bathroom wearing a towel and found Luke on the bed. We had had a fun-filled day, and I had showered after him. He wore short pants and left his body bare. I fed my eyes a bit before averting my gaze. We had spent a week there, and I now believed it was really over between him and Elisabeth, although she didn't seem to accept it. She had sent me many nasty messages, which spoke volumes, but I didn't let Luke see it.

He smiled at me, and I returned the smile.

"Refreshed?" he asked me, and I nodded. He stood up and began to wear his shirt. "I will excuse you so..." He said, and I let the towel drop before finishing his sentence. The rest of the words caught in his throat.

Luke continually excused me and avoided seeing me naked, even when we went hunting. I wanted that to change. As much as he wanted to try, I was willing to jump. He was my husband.

"Don't look away," I said to him and released the towel on my head to let my wet hair down.

"You brought us here, so we will get to know each other," I said and went to get my vibrator from my bag. I had wanted to do this for a bit now. Watching those videos of him and Elisabeth did something to me. Moreover, he did request an invite, and I was about to give it.

Luke was stunned, but he composed himself. I let him see the vibrator; it was called a g-spot stimulator, Short enough to not stretch my walls and cause me to bleed but good enough for an orgasm.

After two months of learning my body, I became an expert at giving myself pleasure. I did not plan this, but I chose to act on instincts when I exited the bathroom and saw him shirtless.

“Don’t avert your gaze, Luke,” I said and went onto the bed facing him. I moved up the bed and rested on my elbows to hold my body up.

“You told me once that you will never touch me, and I should feel free to do as I like,” I said, and his eyes faltered, ” The night you were supposed to take me as yours, you left me alone and drove around because you did not want to force yourself on me,”

I said and moved backwards until my back was resting on the headboard of the bed. I cupped my breast and licked my nipple, then moaned.

“The night you caught me touching myself, you said you loved the view. This week, you have been so nice that I have decided to upgrade the view,” I said, and I saw him swallow. I spread my legs apart to pleasure myself. I maintained eye contact with him while I touched myself, and soon I motioned for him to come closer. I had never touched a cock before; I wanted to feel his and know.

He hesitated and then climbed the bed. I could see him battling himself. I did not know I could have that effect on him, but I did, and I liked it.

“Tia, are you sure about this?” he asked me with difficulty, “Let me see it,” I said to him. He hesitated but then undid his shorts.

Luke was hard and big. “What were you going to do with that,” I asked him, and he could not respond.

Before he could organise his thoughts, I bent in front of him and put him in my mouth.

“Tia..” he moaned my name, and I bobbed my head up and down his length taking in as much as possible. His moans made me know I was doing something right. Soon he pulled it out of my mouth and poured himself into his hands. That was the first live ejaculation that I would see, and for some reason, I wanted it.

“Tia, Tia.,” he said, catching his breath. He laid me down and spread my legs apart. “Your toys won’t do this for you,” he said, positioned his mouth between my legs, licking my clit, and then sucked it into his mouth. I moaned. It was a sensation I had never felt before. His tongue was warm, wet and soft. I felt the pleasure shock move through me. He licked down my slit, and I moaned. He was right he tongue was much better than the toys. Then he stuck his tongue into my pussy. And I was gone. I threw my head back and moaned. My body moving on its own. Grinding is my pussy against his mouth. Want the pleasure and try hard to enjoy the treat a bit longer before coming. Luke sucked my clit and placed a finger inside me. He was going to put another one when I stopped him. "What is wrong, Tia?" he asked, surprised at my action, and I shook my head, but it was too late. He had realised it. "Fuck, Tia. I can't believe this," he said, and I wasn't looking at him. I was shy about it. I wanted to get off the bed, but he pulled me back on it. I was bout to speak when he crashed his lips on mine and kissed me sweetly. I tasted myself on him. His kiss did not stop on my lips. He travelled down with it and spread my legs wide.

“Let me give you pleasure tonight. I promise I won’t go inside,” he said and licked my clit. I responded with a moan.

“He licked and sucked it until I came shaking my body and wondering what just happened. The organism was intense, none like I had ever felt before, and my pussy began to clench uncontrollably.

“May I, I promise I won’t breakthrough,” he said, and I nodded eagerly. My pussy had never clenched this badly before, but it acted as if it were hungry. Luke placed a finger in me, never going too deep. My clenching pussy wanted him to go all the way in, but I knew he wouldn’t. Instead, he massaged my inner walls until my aching pussy relaxed. We lay on the bed, and he kissed me.

“I am sorry, Tia, I honestly did not know,” Luke said, feeling a bit guilty, and I shook my head.

“I wanted this. There is nothing to be sorry about,” I said, and he kissed me gently. “Do you mind if I hold you,” He asked, and I shook my head and snuggled into his arms? After what we did, we relaxed around each other, making our time together easier.

Our last week at the resort was steamy. We made out often. The craziest venue was on the beach, and I began to contemplate going all the way with my husband. I wanted him badly. Caleb did not let my phone rest, and neither did Elisabeth. I doubted she knew we were together because she sent several messages with videos claiming they were recent., but I knew better. Luke was with me all the while. I did not bother to respond or tell her anything because it felt good confirming that she was lying. I knew I had started developing feelings for Luke, and it wasn't because of the resort; it was because of how he had treated me and shielded me. He believed me when no one else would and protected me. The morning he tossed me on the bed and told me he believed me even though everything screamed otherwise was the defining moment for me, but I needed time to accept it, and now I had.

We had just two more days to go. I walked into our Chalet, and there was a box on the bed, and it had a card on it. I lifted it, and it read.

“My darling Tia. Please do me the honour of wearing this and meet me at the only tent by the

he said. I opened the box, and it was a turquoise backless short dress. It was sexy, and I was uncomfortable wearing it, but I knew he wanted to see me in it. I wore a jacket because it was cold in the evening. A resort worker came to get me from my room and addressed me with the utmost respect. He led me to the tent and left. Luke waited there with his white shirt and pants.

He put a lot of effort into it. There was a bed in the tent, so I guess we might be staying the night in the tent. He looked at me and smiled. Luke was a handsome man, no lie, and he did not need to put in too much effort to look the part. He saw me, and the way he did was amazing because Elisabeth was a looker. He really wanted this to work. He was trying, and I was gradually letting my guards down.

“You look beautiful, Tia,” he said, and I smiled at him. He pulled out my chair for me to sit. He sat opposite me. At that moment, I did not want him sitting away from me. I knew it was a private dinner, but I wanted more. I wanted him to take me and seal the deal. Maybe not a claim but a giant leap.

“I am not hungry, Luke,” I said, and he looked at me, raising an eyebrow.

“So, what do you want?” He asked, and I exhaled. “I want to jump, Luke. I want you to take me.” I said, and he looked at me. “You know if we go all the way, there will be no turning back. Are you sure you are ready?” He asked me. “There is no going back for us, Luke. We might as well go all the way,” I said to him, and he shook his head.

“I want it to be special, Tia. I want it to be because you want me, not because you feel we are stuck together,” he said, and I sighed.

“I want you, Luke. I have wanted you for a while now, but I thought you were with Elisabeth. So I built a wall, but now with that out of the way, I am willing to try Luke.” I said, and he sighed.

“Caleb?” He asked

“Caleb might say he wants me now, but he is not good for me, Luke. I know I have crushed on him for four years, but I want more now, and I know you can give me that.” I said.

“If we go all the way, Tia, I will not go back. I am jealous and do not like to share what is mine. I will give a hundred per cent and more if possible. Are you ready for that kind of commitment from me?” He asked me on a serious note, and I nodded because that is what I wanted, commitment.

“You might think it is too much, but I am ready to trust you with my heart and be happy with you. Are you willing to trust me with yours?” He asked, and I nodded.

He got up from his chair and came to me. I stood up, and he bent to kiss me; his breath was so sweet. I did not know I was moaning from the kiss alone. He lifted me and placed me on the bed. Gently peeling off my clothing.

I have waited and anticipated this. I knew he had been holding it inside but not anymore. I was ready to be his wife. He stripped me bare, took off all his clothes, and then went to work. He kissed my lips and travelled to my ears. The sensation was overwhelming, and I moaned. I felt my pussy get wet and clench from that action alone. From my ear, he travelled to my nipples, and I gave him access to my breasts.

“Luke,” I moaned, and he touched my clit with his finger and travelled to my pussy, rubbing in the entrance like a pro; I felt the surge of pleasure and anticipation move through me. “Luke.” I moaned.

“May I taste you, Tia,” he asked. “”yes,” I moaned, high on pleasure and my body shaking with anticipation. He went between my legs to give me pleasure. It didn’t take long before I came shaking. He let go of my clit and knelt in front t of me with his hard cock. He looked at me with a fiery passion in his eyes, and I felt what he was feeling at that moment. He had wanted this for a while.

“I have waited for this moment. This very moment when you finally see me. Tonight I claim what is truly mine. Tia, your heart, love, and body are just as they should be. Me and you.” he said to me, and I did not know how he truly felt about me until that moment. He was an Alpha, and just as much as his rage could be felt, his love could be felt too. Why didn’t I see that he was in love with me? I was too hung up on Caleb that I did not see who I already had. He placed his cock inside me, and it felt so fucking good.

“This might hurt a bit Tia,” he warned me, and I nodded for him to go ahead. He pushed into me, and I felt a slight pain, and soon he began to move back and forth. The pain was replaced with immense pleasure. My walls clenched, and he pumped. I felt a sweet pressure building up inside me.

“Cum for me, Tia,” he pleaded with me, and soon I came all over his cock. He continued to pump while I shook from excess pleasure.

We made love most of the night. It was as if we were on our wedding night. I did not want to stop, but soon I got sore, and I had to stop. Luke and I cuddled that night, and I knew a new life had started for us. One in which we were actually a couple. I wondered what our days ahead would hold.
