

Olivia F 532

Chapter 532

Olivia pulled the covers over her head, feeling a little annoyed by the thunder outside. She covered her ears firmly, trying to go to sleep as soon as possible.

The more annoyed she felt, the harder it was for her to fall asleep. Also, she kept feeling a chill run down her spine.

She felt like there was a voice in her mind telling her to run.

She didn't know where she would run to or why she would have to run.

She had already called Cyril, and many people patrolled the villa 24/7. If there indeed were a problem, they would've noticed it already.

Olivia shook her head. She had to stop herself from thinking too much. She even started to hear things.

After struggling for a long while, she still couldn't fall asleep. She took out the gun Jack gave her half a year ago. It could help her feel more assured, at least.

The two babies in her tummy were probably tired from kicking around. So, they grew quiet.

The thunder and sound of waves hitting the reefs came one after the other.

A cold breeze blew in. It was only then that she realized that half of the gauze window was open. The wind moved the heavy curtains, coming into the room in gusts.

Olivia got up to close all the windows. Just then, she heard a scream coming from the next room.

It was Mona!

Olivia wondered what happened to her.

Leaving the windows, Olivia went right to the door. When she opened the door, she saw a fully-equipped man jumping onto the balcony outside her room.

She couldn't believe that someone would choose to risk their lives in this weather. If they fell into the sea, they would be dead for sure!

Olivia thought of that assassin organization Ethan spoke of. Someone had spent a considerable sum to get her killed!

She hastily backed away. Then, she slammed the door shut.

Mona was dashing over to her in the corridor. When Mona saw the message, she instantly knew that something was off.

At that moment, all the fantasies of romance in her mind had disappeared without a trace.

No matter how stupid she was, she knew that any average person wouldn't climb the cliff in the middle of the night.

She was duped. She couldn't be bothered to think about the problem. The first thing she did was put on her shoes and run.

Fortunately, the window of her room was locked from within. Before the person could open the window, she hastily fled to Olivia's room.

The two exchanged glances. Mona was so terrified that she couldn't form a complete sentence. "Guys, bad guys!"

Olivia had experienced quite a lot before, so she was calmer than Mona. "Let's go."

Those people wouldn't dare to come in from the front door. They chose the path with the worst natural conditions.

It wouldn't be easy for them to climb up here, so Olivia and Mona still had time to escape.

But Olivia was burdened by her huge tummy. Even if she wanted to run, she couldn't run fast.

Mona couldn't carry Olivia on her back even if she wanted to. So, she could only take Olivia's hand.

Mona's palms were sweaty. She kept mumbling, "How can this be? Warren, there's something off about Warren! It's all my fault. I led him to us!"

Even now, Mona didn't know how Warren found this place. Before she went back, she even asked the driver to drive around the city. Lastly, she got into the specialized car.

She was very sure that she wasn't tailed.

"It's okay. All our people are in the front yard. We'll be safe soon. They're already on their way here."

Olivia was calm. All the people Ethan left for her were elites. This place was securely guarded, so the attackers might fail.

"Are you okay, Mrs. Miller?" The bodyguards' voices sounded in the distance.

"I'm fine," Olivia hastily responded.

Just then, a bullet ricocheted.

“Olivia, look out!”
