

It's Too Late To Get A Divorce by Coreal White Chapter 27

Chapter 27

Mike called Jaydon right away and scolded him, telling him to get back to the company pronto and apologize to Alita.

Jaydon came to the employee cafeteria, full of anger. The chatty employees, seeing him, stood up respectfully to greet him.

"Why was Mr. Lewis in the cafeteria today?" they wondered. www.nov@lworm.com

The entire cafeteria fell silent. Jaydon's arrival sent shivers down their spines, and only Alita calmly ate her meal.

Jaydon stopped in front of her, his voice cold. "Enjoying your meal?"

"Not bad, got veggies, meat, and soup. Pretty good," Alita replied casually.

Jaydon's eyes darkened. He lifted the food tray and flung it backward, smashing it into a nearby table with a loud bang. Food was scattered everywhere, and the employees quickly stepped back.

They were scared stiff by Jaydon's tantrum, but word had it that Alita wasn't someone to mess with either.

The cafeteria fell into an eerie silence. Everyone held their breath, careful not to make a sound.

Alita put down her fork, stood up expressionlessly, and walked away.

"Pick up the food from the floor," Jaydon coldly commanded, breaking the silence.

Alita halted and clenched her fists, then released them and turned around. "Sure thing."

"Do it right now, and no tools allowed," Jaydon said through gritted teeth. 'You really had the guts to text Grandpa and make me look bad in the restaurant. Now, I'll make you have a taste of your own medicine. How do you feel when you're embarrassed in front of everyone?' he thought.

Seeing him enraged like this, Alita knew Mike must have scolded him.

She faintly smiled and approached the scattered food on the ground. She squatted down and grabbed the food, unfazed. No matter what, she wouldn't back down.

Seeing this, the employees stood awkwardly, unsure whether to leave or stay. www.nov@lworm.com

Jaydon walked to the side, sat down, and composed himself.

Alita picked up the food, placed the tray in front of him, and said, "All picked up, Mr. Lewis."

"Eat them," he said coldly, without any mercy.

Everyone present was shocked. 'They've fallen on the floor. How can she eat that?' they thought.

Jaydon became relaxed and self-satisfied. 'Alita, don't you never give up? Come on, eat them, or just kneel and beg for mercy,' he thought. www.nov@lworm.com

Alita stood calmly, and suddenly, without hesitation, she poured the food onto Jaydon's face.

Everyone gasped when they saw this. 'Oh my, Mrs. Lewis has some nerve. She's in big trouble this time,' they silently thought.
