

When She Stops Playing Nice Chapter 121

Chapter 121

Gina was deep in thought when her phone rang again. It was Phillip.

Gina picked up the call and Jason's voice rang out from the other end. "Gina, I underestimated you. You're capable. You even have a faction in my company!"

Jason learned from the police that his father had spoken to Gina on the phone before he died. He had called Gina using Phillip's phone after realizing that Gina had not blocked Phillip's phone number.

Star Entertainment?' Gina thought as she raised her brows slightly.

She had nothing to do with that entertainment company.

Before she could speak, Jason continued, "You know our company's boss? You pressured my manager to delete my Twitter account? Hey, Gina, do you think this matter can be resolved by pressuring me to delete my Twitter account? Are you arrogant or sd?" "This matter has nothing to do with me," Gina said indifferently. She would have thought Jason had decided to delete his account on his own accord if he had not called to denounce her. "You're still pretending!" Jason sneered. "What did Dad tell you when he called you? Did you want to kill him because of that call? Did you get angry and want to kill him after he scolded you a few times?" Jason had already started recording the call. He was going to get Gina to tell him the truth. He might even be able to get some useful clues from Gina and make things public in the future. That way, Gina would never be able to make a comeback. It would be best if she would be given the death penalty.

Jason was also a little worried. He suspected that Phillip was discussing the distribution of the inheritance with Gina. They had adjusted Phillip's medicine usage and medical resources downward as everyone in the family had reached a tacit understanding to not give him such expensive medicine. The family had been spending a lot recently, and this was the only way they could cut corners. Phillip must have sensed it and felt disappointed in them even though he had a stroke. Moreover, Phillip must have had a good impression of Gina after knowing that she was the hospital director and had given him such good medical care.

That was why he decided to give her the Miller family's inheritance, This bh has taken 600 million dollars from the Miller family! Isn't that enough? Jason thought. He would never allow Gina to take away another cent from the Miller family. "I'm sure you've all seen the letter he wrote me. He also apologized to me on the phone, saying he was sorry, I told me I had to meet him, so I went. He was dead when I got here," Gina said calmly. Jason was a little annoyed. He thought, "This bh is quite cautious. She is extremely tight-lipped. It's useless to record this conversation

"You're so stubborn even though you're about to die. I'm disgusted to have a sister like you! Gina, you're the most wretched bh in the world! Society's parasite! Ginn, you'll pay the price! You won't stay smug for long!"

Gina's expression was calm despite Jason's scolding. "As for you, Jason, you were once a nameless idol. Yet, you relied on the song 1, the most wretched person in the world, wrote to have your current achievements."

Gina had never wanted to talk about how much she had sacrificed for the Miller family. She felt that it was not worth it. She also did not want to think about it anymore.

However, she was explaining it now not to wake Jason up and make him feel grateful. She just wanted him to know that she had both the ability to push him to the greatest heights and the means to make him fall to his death.

Jason was stunned. The song... you wrote it? Olivia said that although she didn't write the song, she bought it!"

Gina sneered as she said. "You still believe in Olivia's nonsense even now, Jason, you're hopelessly d. You're just an airbag with no real talent at all. You should have relinquished your spot as a top celebrity long ago."

Jason was shocked by how cold Gina's tone was. He reacted, "Gina, are you threatening me?"

"Do I need to threaten you?" Gina asked.

At this moment, Jason felt extremely oppressed.

He thought. "I can't underestimate this h's power..."

He was a little afraid. However, he thought about it a little longer. This bh is about to be arrested and thrown into jail. What is there to be afraid of? She's just putting on a brave front." Jason snorted. "You can't even protect yourself now, yet you're still trying to scare me? Gina, you're despicable enough to kill your biological father. No one will go and collect your corpse after you're sentenced to death!" Then, Jason hurriedly hung up the phone. It finally quieted down. Gina was a little curious that someone in Star Entertainment would help her, so she began a casual investigation of the company. It turned out that Star Entertainment was a business under the Torres Group. Gina wondered, 'Could it be that Aria... Gina sent Aria a message. She went straight to the point. "Aria, did you get someone to ask Jason to delete his Twitter account?" -Aria replied in seconds, "Yes, it was... Gina, are you okay now? Where are you?" Aria thought that the online public opinion was too explosive. Many angry people even said that they were going to dig out Gina's address and that they were going to settle scores with sm like her.

Aria was a little worried about Gina's safety.

She became even more worried after seeing the Jackson Group's statement and felt that Gina must be devastated. After all, Gabriel had been wooing her before, but he was in a hurry to cut ties with her now she was in trouble.

It would have been better if Gabriel ignored the situation or at least waited a little longer before making a statement. It would not have hurt as much as him immediately putting out a statement.

Aria did not think what Gabriel did was unreasonable, but it was quite impersonal. She even began to wonder if Gabriel's feelings for Gina were sincere.

Aria's heart ached at that thought.

As a friend, she did not want Gina to feel isolated and helpless.

She was her friend. She was willing to believe that Gina was innocent and wanted to help her out of her predicament.

All she could do was to cool down the public opinion. Coincidentally, Jason was signed under her entertainment company.

"I'm at home and everything is fine. It's better if you don't interfere in this matter. I don't want to implicate you and the Torres family," Gina said.

I'm not afraid! Gina, you saved me back then. You're my savior. Please don't say that you are implicating me, Aria replied.

The man-made lake at Trowell University was quite deep. Aria had stopped breathing by the time she was rescued after accidentally falling into it. Gina had appeared in time and saved her life by giving her first aid.
