Chapter 31

Jack breathed in deeply. "Alright. I hope you can do it."

Gina hung up and checked Twitter's trending searches. She noticed a new one. Miller Jewels had released a "disclaimer" on their Twitter account, stating the Miller family had severed ties with Gina. It also condemned bullying and took the victim's side.

Netizens now rallied in support of Miller Jewels under their post.

One remarked, "At least the Miller family knew right from wrong,"

Another pointed out, "Even her family abandoned her? She must be good then. Good riddance! I'll buy from Miller Jewels from now on."

The comments went on.

Gina smiled coldly. The Miller family had spent a lot of money to promote Miller Jewels under the post and to blow it up so they could capitalize on the hype. Gina was again surprised by their shamelessness.

Gina turned off her phone and entered the hospital. When she appeared at the ward doorway, a middle-aged woman approached her aggressively. "You're Gina? You're the bully? How can you be so shameless?"

Keira Allen tried to hit Gina but Jack stopped her. Jack persuaded, "Mrs. Allen, please calm down."

Gina couldn't be hurt

Keira realized that too. Jack had hinted at it earlier. He didn't decide to expel Lily. Gina had someone powerful backing her up. But how could Keira calm down? She pointed at Gina and said, "If my daughter dies, I won't let you off. Never!"

Gina didn't bat an eyelid. "Mrs. Allen, I didn't bully Lily. Your daughter was the bully."

Keira's eyes went wide. "What nonsense is that?"

"Let's hash it all out in person." With that, Keira entered the ward.

Afraid Gina's appearance would upset Lily, Keira tried to stop Gina but was too late. Lily's right leg was in a cast. She was sitting on the bed. Seeing Gina, Lily was surprised and began to act. "Gina? What do you want? I'm sorry. Don't hit me anymore. You've ruined my life. Can't you let me off?"

Keira hugged Lily, her heart aching. "Don't be scared. I'm here. I'll protect you." Keira glared at Gina.

Though surprised, Gina wasn't angry by Keira's attitude. Lily had a good mother. Gina said calmly, "Let's hash it out here, Lily"

Lily felt ominous. "What are you gonna do?"

Gina took out her phone and began playing recordings.

In one of them, Lily said, "That bitch Gina didn't return tonight. She's probably selling herself again."

In another snippet, Lily's tone was smug. "I just used Gina's toothbrush to clean the toilet."

In another, Lily spoke, "Is this Gina's eye drops? Let me add something to it."

Another roommate couldn't bear it and interjected, "Lily, what are you doing? If you put glue in there, she'll go blind."

Lily didn't care. "So what? Her eyes make my stomach curl. She's such a vixen.

The recording continued, stating all of Lily's crimes, Lily's face turned white.

Keira froze. She recognized Lily's voice. How could her usually obedient and sensible daughter be so vicious?

"I also have videos Gina opened the camera she placed on the bedside and played a video. In it, Lily stomped on Gina's bed and muttered. "Where should I hide the needle? Hopefully, the bitch would bleed. The camera even captured Lily's hideous face. It was undeniable. The real bully was her daughter. Keira almost fainted from shock. Lily panicked. You had cameras in the dorm?"

Gina snickered. "You were out to get me from the first day. Of course, I gotta Jet Li off

"What do you mean?" Lily's face turned pale.

collect evidence of your crimes." Gina wouldn't

"Spreading rumors, defamation, inciting online attacks, deliberately harm. That should be enough to put you in jail for three to five years, Gina stated coldly. "You also tried to throw a brick at me. Mr. Baker saw it too. He can testify."

Keira trembled, turning to Jack. "Mr. Baker, is that true?"

Jack nodded

Keira looked at Lily. "Why, Lily?"

Lily bowed her head silently, her eyes red. She wasn't repentant. However, she didn't expect Gina to have cameras in the dorm

Keira slapped Lily. When Lily's face swelled up, her heart ached. Keira spoke sternly, "Apologize."

Lily was unmoved.

Keira was anxious. "Speak up."

C i n a didn't need Lily's insincere apology. "My lawyer will contact you."

Keira grabbed Gina before she left. "Please don't go. I'm sorry. It's my fault. I didn't bring her up properly. Please don't sue her. If she goes to jail, her life will be ruined forever. She's still young. How about I apologize? I'll even get on my knees."

Lily finally spoke, "Mom, don't kneel to her. She glared at Gina.

Yeira roared at Lily, "Shut up!"

They said she was nothing...Gina Miller was found by her biological family when she was nineteen. She had expected a grand reunion and being showered by love. However, her parents and brothers looked down on her lowly upbringing and country manners and instead loved the daughter they adopted when Gina went missing. After much disappointment, Gina left and never looked back. He had everything but was dying... Gabriel Jackson was rich, successful, and handsome. He had everything others wanted and more. Too bad he was ill and was predicted to die before thirty. His father wanted to set him up with someone, but Gabriel was afraid of being a burden to her. Besides, Gabriel had his sights set on someone already. But she was more than she seemed...Gina didn't want to play nice anymore. No longer hiding herself, her various identities were revealed one by one. She was a multi- billionaire, superb doctor, top hacker, and renowned designer. The powerful respected her. Chapter 32

Keira got down on her knees. Gina frowned, trying to get her to stand but Keira stubbornly refused.

“Mum!” Lily felt humiliated watching her mother kneel before Gina.

Keira begged, “Please, Gina. Give her another chance to turn over a new leaf.”

Gina’s expression didn’t change. “If I wasn’t prepared, I might be blind and c r i p p l e d now. Besides, does she look remorseful? Mrs. Allen, this isn’t your fault. You don’t need to apologize.”

Keira cried. “I do. I didn’t teach her properly. Sue me instead, Miss Miller. I’ll go to jail for her.”

Gina didn’t soften but also didn’t want to drag this on. She didn’t want Keira to continue begging her. “Fine. I’ll give her a chance. If she says who told her to do all that, I will consider not pressing charges.”

If Lily exposed Olivia’s true personality before everyone and let them see Olivia’s true colors, Lily could redeem herself a little.

Keira nodded. “Yes. Lily is usually good. Someone must have manipulated her. Keira got up and grabbed Lily’s arm. Talk Who told you to do that?”

Lily bowed her head and pursed her lips. She couldn’t betray Olivia

“Talk” Keira shook Lily anxiously.

Lily bit her lip before bursting out, “No one made me. I hated you so I bullied you.”

Keira collapsed to the ground dejectedly.

Gina had expected this. She sneered. What did Olivia give Lily to make her so devoted? Lily was willing to go to jail than expose Olivia.

Gina ignored Lily and turned to Keira. “I gave her a chance.” But Lily didn’t cherish it.

As Gina left, Keira fainted from grief. Lily crawled out of the bed and shouted, “Mom?”

Gina’s lawyer soon contacted Lily and Keira. Keira also hired a lawyer for Lily. After understanding what happened, the lawyer deemed the chances of winning slim and advised Lily to take measures to reduce the sentence.

Lily recorded an apology video and uploaded it online. She claimed her expulsion was because she tried to hurt Gina and that C i n a had no powerful backing. She said her action was witnessed by the school dean who couldn’t tolerate such misconduct Lily cried in the video but she wasn’t genuinely repentant. She was trying to make a good impression before the lawsuit.

Gina watched the video at home expressionlessly. The Trowell University posted her evidence of Lily’s actions on Twitter, turning the situation around.

Those who had incited online attacks against C a and threatened to take justice into their own hands were detained by the police.

One netizen commented, “Who would expect the bully to be so good at acting? She even played the victim. How scary Just because you look weak doesn’t mean you’re right.””

Another remarked, “What about those who bullied Gina online? Will they apologize?”

A third added, "The Miller Jewels certainly changed their stance quickly."

The comments went on.

Gina lost interest and turned off her phone.

At the Miller family's residence, Ella was anxious. When the incident broke out, she listened to Olivia and issued a statement cutting ties with Gina. Now, many questioned Miller Jewels's attention-seeking and exploiting behavior, doubting the validity of the severance agreement, accusing them of lying for profit and caring nothing for family. Ella had intended to make a good impression but it had backfired.

"Sorry, Mom. I shouldn't have told you that." Olivia pretended to be remorseful.

However, she was cursing silently. Why wasn't Lily more cautious? That bitch Gina was so scheming.

Olivia incited Lily to blow up her expulsion to ruin Gina's reputation. However, it didn't go according to her plan. Nevertheless, Olivia wasn't worried that Lily would expose her. She had leverage over Lily.

According to her plan.

"Darling, of course, it isn't your fault. I'm just worried about Miller Jewels. But... Ella didn't expect Gina to be bullied in school for so long. Gina had never mentioned it. Looking back, Gina had never troubled her before.

A rare emotion stirred in Ella's heart. She suddenly realized she had never truly cared for her daughter. She muttered, "Did she get picked? What about those eyedrops? She probably threw that away, right?"

Olivia's heart jolted, NE

Was it for Gina? "Mom, Gina took precautions against Lily. She wouldn't be injured. If you care, why not call her?"

Ella then remembered they had severed ties with Gina. Frustrated, Ella remarked, "She's still alive and kicking. She's probably fine." Gina could still hurt Liam after having a lot of blood drawn.

Olivia's eyes gleamed viciously. Why didn't Gina remain in her coma longer? She would have more of her blood drained. and Gina would die. Then Olivia would be the only daughter of the Miller family.

They said she was nothing...Gina Miller was found by her biological family when she was nineteen. She had expected a grand reunion and being showered by love. Chapter 33

An idea came to Olivia and she began acting again. "Mom, I think Gina is bullied because she's odd. Sometimes, even I think so. Why would she be targeted otherwise?"

Realization dawned on Ella. It took two to tango, after all. Gina must have done something to provoke Lily. "That's true." Ella switched topics. "Never mind. Darling, how's your design draft coming along?"

Olivia was irritated at the mention of this. She was clueless. She even resented Elsen for demanding something that surpassed the Wish collection. She wanted to outshine Gina but would never admit Gina's design was good. The Wish collection sold well because it was credited to her.

Olivia didn't want to disappoint Ella, so she exaggerated. "Mom, I've been staying up late working on it. I'll try to finish it soon."

Ella's heart ached. "Don't tire yourself out. Your health is important too."

"I know, Mom. Olivia nodded in false docility.

In the afternoon, Olivia returned to school for her classes in a Mercedes. Once she was in the classroom, she took out a paper and started pondering. However, she simply couldn't do it. If she failed, her brother and mother might bring Gina back. After all, the cooperation with Dale Group affected the lifeline of Miller Jewels.

Olivia was immersed in her worries.

"Where's Olivia Miller?" Jasmine appeared at Jewelry Design Class 3, grabbed a girl, and demanded.

The girl was intimidated and pointed to Olivia who was in her seat. "That's her..."

Jasmine sneered and walked over. "Olivia!"

Olivia had her back to Jasmine. She turned to see who was making the fuss and interrupted her train of thought.

However, Jasmine grabbed Olivia's hair before she turned and yanked. "Weren't you arrogant at the Quaria store? Let's see how arrogant you are now."

Hurt and confused, Olivia couldn't lift her head. "What are you talking about?"

A crowd gathered around them. Jasmine looked at them and yelled, "What are you looking at?"

Then, she dragged Olivia by her hair into the women's restroom. Jasmine pushed Olivia into a cubicle, Olivia's head hit the partition. Her ears rang

"Do you think you can do whatever you want just because you're engaged to Ethan? My family can crush your family. It's as easy as stepping on an ant." Jasmine couldn't swallow the humiliation at Quarip. Besides, she intended to marry Gabriel, Ethan's uncle Jasmine had seen online that Gabriel and a "mysterious woman had gone to the Grand Restaurant but couldn't find out who that was. She couldn't vent her anger. Thus, she decided to find Olivia.

Olivia was still stunned. Her hair was messed up, covering her face. "What are you going on about?"

"What? Afraid now?" Jasmine kicked her. Olivia's shin was bruised.

Olivia exclaimed in pain.

Jasmine felt better. "You b i t c h. Not so arrogant now, are you?"

Olivia couldn't take it anymore. She tossed her hair aside and looked at Jasmine. "Stop. Hold on."

Jasmine didn't want to look at Olivia's beautiful face at first but realized Olivia didn't look like the person she saw at Quaria. Did she get the wrong person?

"You're not Olivia Miller?" Jasmine was puzzled.

Olivia was bewildered. "I am."

Jasmine asked, "You're Ethan's fiancée?"

Olivia replied, "Yes." Then she remembered Jasmine mentioning Quaria. "I haven't been to Quaria recently. Did you get the wrong person?"

Jasmine felt guilty.

Olivia understood. Jasmine, with her branded clothes and Quaria jewelry, seemed wealthy. Despite being mistakenly assaulted, Olivia was wary and dared not get angry. "Miss Bush, did someone impersonate me? Who was it? Can you tell me?" Olivia ground her teeth. She'd kill the culprit.

Jasmine didn't feel bad at all. "How would I know? All I know was that her last name was Miller. She recalled, "She's also dressed shabbily like she's from the country. She wore casual clothes and had a mole on her ear."

The description sounded familiar. Olivia remembered Gina had such a mole. "Was the mole on her earlobe?"

Think so. Jasmine wasn't sure.

Olivia was certain. Besides Gina, who would impersonate her and cause trouble for her? Olivia hadn't offended anyone else. How could the b t c h do this? Olivia's nails dug into her palms. Fortunately, she had clarified it quickly or she'd continued to have her a s s kicked. Olivia forced a smile. "Miss Bush, it must be Gina Miller. She's the one you're looking for. She pretended to be me."

Although that wasn't true, Jasmine didn't bother explaining. Instead, she asked, "Why are you so sure? Are you related?"

Olivia explained hastily, "She is my sister, but not anymore. What she did has nothing to do with us."

They said she was nothing...Gina Miller was found by her biological family when she was nineteen. She had expected a grand reunion and being showered by love. Jasmine sneered. "Who cares? Where's she? Tell her to come here."

Olivia was put on the spot. "I can't reach her. She has blocked all of us. But I can..."

Olivia was going to give Jasmine Gina's number when Jasmine struck her. Jasmine remarked, "You're useless. Since you can't find her, you deserve this. Gina's your sister, which means you're both b i t h e s."

Jasmine kicked Olivia again. She hadn't vented enough but people came in to use the bathroom and Jasmine didn't want to linger.

After Jasmine left, Olivia was so furious she shrieked. She walked out of the cubicle and called Noah for help.

Noah asked nervously, "What happened? Where are you? I'll pick you up."

When Noah came, he saw Olivia sitting on the side of the road with bruises on her legs. Her eyes were red. Concerned, Noah asked, "Olivia, what happened?"

Olivia replied tearfully, "Noah, my right hand hurts badly. It's probably fractured. Take me to the hospital please."

Jasmine didn't hurt Olivia's hand, but to avoid drawing the design drafts, Olivia lied. Her family would have to find another way instead of relying on her. That way, they wouldn't be disappointed.

At the hospital, the doctor, Nathan Garner pronounced, "Miss Miller has a comminuted fracture in her hand. She'll probably need three months to heal."

Noah was shocked. Three months?"

His phone rang. Noah picked it up. "Mum?"

Ella asked worriedly, "I'm at the hospital entrance. Where are you guys?"

"Relax, Mum. I'll come to you." Noah turned to Olivia and said, "Wait for me. I'll be back soon."

Olivia nodded.

After Noah left, Nathan said, "Miss Miller, as you said, I've exaggerated the severity of your injury, so..." Nathan grinned and gestured for money.

Olivia handed a bank card to him. "Keep your mouth shut."

Of course, Nathan promised.

When Noah returned with Ella, the medical staff was already applying a cast to Olivia.

Ella had learned what happened from Noah. Gina caused Olivia to be injured. Ella was furious.

"Mom, I'm okay. It's just that I might not be able to finish the drafts. I'm sorry." As Olivia spoke, tears welled in her eyes.

"It's not your fault, honey. It's that bit h's fault, Ella shouted.

Chapter 34

Gina was in her apartment and working on her laptop. She had Michael put out bait last time but the other side was cautious and didn't bite. She had hoped to follow it and track down who the person was eventually.

Her phone rang, interrupting her thoughts. It was from Jack. "Miss Miller, your withdrawal application has been approved. However, you need to come and sign it.” Gina responded, “Sure.” After hanging up, Gina found it strange. There was no need for Jack to call her personally for this. However, she didn’t dwell on it and returned to Trowell University,

Upon entering Jack’s office, Gina saw Ella, Noah, and the injured Olivia. Olivia’s face was still swollen. Gina was momentarily surprised but looked away coldly, as though she didn’t recognize them. She walked to Jack’s desk, signed her name on the withdrawal form, and turned to leave.

Noah had expected this and stood in Gina’s path..

“Get out of my way,” Gina said expressionlessly.

Jack spoke up. “Miss Miller, your family has something to discuss with you. Why don’t you have a chat?”

I don’t have family,” Gina stated coldly.

Ella snorted, once again regretting not killing Gina at birth. She would have done that if she knew Gina would turn out like this.

Gina realized Jack had called her here because of the Miller family. The Miller family had donated a building to the university. Even though it was for Olivia, Jack felt that calling Gina wasn’t troublesome. So, he did it.

I’ll leave you alone then. With that, Jack left.

Ella got up from the sofa and confronted G

Chapter 35

Gina didn’t know why. She didn’t care either. She remembered that the woman was arrogant and probably hurt Olivia quite badly. Gina found it amusing. Evildoers would indeed make their match.

Ella demanded hysterically. “You must apologize to Olivia and compensate her.

“Tell that to the one who beat her up, Gina replied.

Ella already guessed Jasmine was the daughter of the real state tycoon. They couldn’t afford to provoke the Bush family, so demanding justice from them wasn’t an option.

“Olivia ended up like this because of you. You can’t leave without making things right,

Ella shouted to Gina

“Oh: What do you want me to do?” Gina smirked. She was curious how low they could go.

“Olivia was going to design the next series of Miller Jewels. Because of you, her right hand is injured and she can’t do it anymore. You must draw the new designs and credit them to Olivia, Ella declared.

Olivia’s eyes lit up. She lowered her head to conceal her smugness.

How ridiculous. Gina snickered. “Dream on.”

Ella was infuriated. “If you don’t, I’ll give your whereabouts to Miss Bush. She won’t let you off. I can’t deal with you but her family can.”

Gina dismissed her threat. “Try it.” The Bush family was nothing. Besides, Jasmine provoked her first.

Seeing Gina’s indifferent demeanor, the veins on Ella’s neck bulged. Her fists were clenched.

Gina looked at Noah impatiently. “Move. Or do you want to end up in the hospital?”

Noah clenched his jaw. He thought of James and Liam and was afraid. Still, he shouted, “If you lay a hand on me, I’ll call the police.”

Ella didn’t want to blow up the matter as Olivia still had to study here. She didn’t want others to look down on Olivia. Ella pushed Noah away and stood before Gina, thinking Gina wouldn’t hurt her. “You ingrate. B i c h. Hit me if you dare. Let everyone see your true colors.”

Gina rolled her eyes. “Seriously, if you have time, go for a checkup...” She paused before continuing, “Especially your eyesight.” How could Ella not see Olivia for who she was?

Ella was enraged. She thought Gina was cursing her. She reached out to strike Gina. Gina caught her wrist.

Unable to break free, Ella shouted, “Let go.”

When Gina was in the hospital, she was weak and not on guard against her supposed family, and was slapped by Ella. Now they’ve cut ties, Ella was a stranger in her eyes.

Ella tried to kick Gina but Gina dodged. Noah was at a loss. He didn’t want to land himself in the hospital. All he could do was bluster. “Gina, are you insane? Let Mom go.”

Gina’s face darkened. She flung Ella away. Ella grabbed the ashtray from the coffee table, ready to smash it on Gina.

Chapter 35

Olivia silently enjoyed the spectacle while Noah glared at Gina.

“I’m going to kill you, b i t c h,” Ella yelled.

Suddenly, a loud smack sounded.

Gina had slapped Ella. Ella was stunned. Her cheek felt like it was on fire.

Olivia was shocked. Still, she continued acting. “Gina... You hit Mom?”

Noah was dumbfounded but relieved he hadn’t done anything to Gina. If Gina dared to hit their mother, she wouldn’t take mercy on him.

The ashtray fell to the ground. Ella looked at Gina in shock. She covered her face and muttered, “You actually hit me.”

Gina stated calmly, “I’m paying you back for hitting me in the hospital.”

Ella pointed at Gina but couldn’t speak.

Jack was standing outside. He had heard the commotion and was worried they would destroy his office. He cleared his throat and lectured, "Miss Miller, you're a family, after all. Why can't you talk things out with them?"

Gina frowned. She disliked being lectured by someone uninformed about the situation. With all the things the Miller family had done to her, did they have the right to ask her to be civil? She had already cut ties with them, yet they repeatedly provoked her. Gina retorted, "Mr. Baker, don't you know you shouldn't tell others what to do if you weren't in their shoes?"

Jack was struck speechless. How dare she lecture him? If Gabriel didn't back her up, he would have dealt with her.

Before leaving, Gina commented, "Mr. Baker, it's wiser to avoid such favors." Gina was referring to Jack tricking her so she'd meet the Miller family.

Jack watched Gina's departing figure grimly, snorting coldly.

Inside the office, Ella sat on the floor, looking a little crazy, muttering repeatedly, "She actually hit me."

"Mom, calm down." Noah tried to help Ella up.
